Changes Urged By McCarthy

New York — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy disclosed Thursday the substance of the peace plank he has drafted for the Democratic National Convention.

He told 19,000 cheering supporters at a Madison Square Garden rally that he would demand "forcefully and without compromise" a platform which:

"Recognizes the failures of past policy.

"Affirms that there must be a new government in Saigon, open to the participation of the National Liberation Front."

The proposed platform, he said, would make clear that any refusal by Saigon to accept such a new government would result in the reduction and gradual phase-out of American troops and American assistance.

Assails Humphrey

McCarthy assailed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, his chief rival for the nomination, as an old line hawk whose views of Vietnam were indistinguishable from those of the Republican nominee, Richard M. Nixon.

"The American people deserve more in 1968 than a choice between the positions of the earliest and strongest supporters. of the war," he said.

He charged that the Johnson administration was holding to such "inflexible and unrealistic diplomatic terms" that a political settlement of the war was impossible.

The U.S. position at the Paris negotiations was hoplessly rigid, he said, and would remain inflexible so long as Washington supported the Saigon regime.

Saigon had opposed every initiative required to end the war, he said.

'Cannot Continue'

"We cannot continue," he said, "to be prisoners of those who would not settle this war. The time has come once more to call upon the administration to change its policy, to make a realistic attempt to break the impasse in the Paris negotiations. We make that call tonight. And we intend to make the call, forcefully and without compromise, at the Democratic convention in Chicago."

Equating Humphrey's stand on Vietnam with that of Nixon's, McCarthy recalled that the vice president's support for American intervention in Southeast Asia went back almost as far as that of the Republican candidate.

He said that Humphrey, in 1955 had advocated intervention on the side of French colonial forces. He said Humphrey, in that year, had rebuked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, after reportedly saying that Vietnam was "not sufficiently important to become a source of serious friction between France and the United States."

Guarantee Said Bomb Halt Key

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford made plain Thursday that the key to a full bombing halt over North Vietnam is some guarantee of safety for Americans stationed near enemy territory.

Clifford also told a news conference the administration still awaits a "clear signal" from Hanoi that the current lull in fighting may represent a change in attitude.

Lacking this, or some indirect sign that would give the lull more significance, Clifford said the United States assumes on the basis of intelligence information that a third major offensive is in the works.

Forces Jeopardized

There have been rumors President Johnson might stop all bombing of the North as the Democratic National Convention gets under way, but Clifford's comments seemed to scotch that idea in the absence of some move by the other side.

Clifford said President Johnson decided March 31 to continue bombing North Vietnam's narrow southern panhandle because to stop them would jeopardize U.S. forces just below the demilitarized zone.

"I think that reason still holds," he said.

"I believe the President feels strongly that it (the bombing) should be carried on until we get some kind of arrangement.

Agreement Needed

"What he has in mind is, if he gives up the bombing of even this limited part of North Vietnam, he does not want to do it at the expense of the lives of the men that we have in northern I Corps (The South Vietnamese region adjacent to North Vietnam)," Clifford said.

"So if the time will come when the North Vietnamese will say, we understand this, and if you give up all the bombing we will agree through this course of action not to place these men in greater jeopardy, then the President and they have made an agreement.

"I think it constitutes a reasonable and logical approach."

Brownville Summer Theatre Demands Much Of Students

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Brownville — Dirty shirts done on a washboard, a leading lady who stitched costumes for 40 hours straight, a deep-voiced hero over an ironing board . . this is show business?

Indeed it has been for 11 young actors from Nebraska Wesleyan University this summer. They've also janitored, hammered and painted scenery, kept tab on sales taxes and picked up after their box office patrons.

And rehearsed and rehearsed and rehearsed, often from 9 a.m. til midnight. Occasionally, bedtime also was breakfast time.

More Learned

"These kids have learned more theater in one summer than they would ordinarily in several semesters," said Henry H. Blanke Jr., NWU drama professor and director of the theater in residence. "They've eaten it, drunk it, slept it and breathed it. Yes, they've also washed and ironed it."

In their second summer of plays at Brownville's Village Theater, they will have done 40 performances if they don't drop before the final curtain does this Sunday night. Advance ticket sales were so heavy that week-night plays were added the last two weeks.

For their 8½ weeks, the performers received five hours' college credit, $200, board and room — and applause that all but shook Brownville's seven famed hills. Only those behind the scenes realized the sweat that went into each of five productions.

Ruffle Expert

Take Richard Schroeder of Shelton, who had leads in "Picnic" and "Rip Van Winkle" but also became a specialist in ruffles. Countless frilly yards came from his sewing machine for the bustle-style dresses of "Life with Father."

It was the costume demands of the latter which kept Pam Brown sleepless from a Thursday afternoon to Saturday morning. The opening night audience had no idea that needles were still flying during the first act so all actors would be clothed for Act 2.

Both Blanke and his costume-designing wife, Phyllis, joined the students for key roles in the 1880 play. Son Gregory, 6, made it his acting debut.

Prop Is Handy

The washboard came in handy for white shirts that had to double for Sunday matinees and evenings. More modern facilities were available for regular laundry.

Men students took over part of the theater basement for a dormitory. Coeds' quarters were in a rented house shared with the Blankes and another faculty couple, the Charles Harpers.

Despite the demands both on and off stage, five of the students were second-summer returnees: Schroeder, John Carter and Bob Kirk of Lincoln, Sandi Rhoten of Carlisle, Iowa, and Pat Van Scyoc of Tabor, Iowa. First-timers are Dennis Murphy of Lincoln, Kevan Nye of Portland, Ore., Miss Brown of Tabor, Iowa, Heather Craig of St. Paul, Kathy Good of Central City and Suzi Shugert of Fremont.

What of next summer, which holds forth the promise of an equally hectic schedule?

"Several are already talking about another season," said Blanke, obviously pleased. "When they get back on campus, the experience — fortunately — will tend to romanticize itself."

Steen's Grip On Job Hits Snag Of Retirement Age

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

State Game Commission Director Mel O. Steen's hold on his job hit a new snag Thursday in the form of another attorney general's opinion.

The opinion maintains that Steen comes under Nebraska's mandatory retirement law, which requires a state employe to retire at age 68 unless retained on a year-to-year basis by the employing department. Steen is 71.

The opinion added a new twist to the out-again, in-again nature of Steen's tenure.

June 30

The veteran director had thought his term would expire June 30 of this year, and the Game Commission went so far as to select James T. Shields of Longville, Minn., as his successor, effective next Jan. 1

Then an attorney general's opinion one week later held Steen's term does not expire until April 22, 1970, and Steen chose to hold onto his job. The commission then withdrew Shields' appointment.

The latest attorney general's opinion was requested by the Legislative Council's executive board and was released by the board following a meeting with Sen. George Syas of Omaha.

Syas appeared before the board to press for a Legislative Council study of the Game Commission.

No Decision

The board made no immediate decision on whether to appoint a special study committee, but decided to direct its own research staff to inquire into some aspects of the case, assessing the work load in view of determining whether a study is practical, feasible and advisable this late in the pre-legislative year.

The new attorney general's opinion, written by Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph H. Gillan, did not make it clear whether Steen is in immediate danger of losing his job.

Noting the anniversary date of Steen's term is April 2, the opinion said:

"Assuming that the secretary of the Game and Parks Commission is past 68, it is our opinion that the commission should make a determination on or before April 22, 1969, as to whether approval should be given to the secretary's employment for another year."

'Direction'

The opinion said this does not imply that "past employment which has not been annually approved would subject the employe to a return of the salary paid," but it is "simply a direction by the Legislature to various departments to review the status of over age employes annually."

Under Nebraska's mandatory retirement law, any state employe, except elected officials must retire at the end of the month in which his 68th birthday occurs, unless approved for retention by the department.

When Steen began his new six-year term April 22, 1964, he accepted the appointment subject to the existing 1963 law on mandatory retirement, the opinion said.

No Conflict

The opinion said the mandatory retirement provisions are applicable to officers appointed for definite terms, including the Game Commission secretary, and there is no conflict between the retirement law and other laws providing for removal during term of office only for inefficiency, neglect of duty or misconduct.

The opinion cited a New York court decision which held that termination of employment by reason of mandatory retirement does not constitute "removal from office."

Government To Retain Veto On Job Programs

Austin, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson Thursday set down a series of guidelines for control of anti-poverty job programs retaining government veto power and falling short of the demands of Negro militants.

But the guidelines did give some additional power to agencies at the site of programs for the poor, and Johnson said he hoped they would stimulate more.

In an executive order announced by the Texas White House, the President assured federal, state and local governments control over all job training programs.

The guidelines basically reaffirm the current status of political control over anti-poverty efforts in the ghettoes. They are in contrast to the demands from various militant civil rights groups for control over the planning and operation of job training programs.

Johnson's order left several lawyers of government agencies with veto power over any recommendations by ghetto residents.

The President said the order was "designed to stimulate far greater local and state participation in formulating manpower activities to meet the special needs of local communities. He said it encompassed the goals of the existing cooperative area Manpower Planning System program.

The difference between Johnson's order and the demands of the militants was that Johnson, while giving more power to state and local governments, was not giving the power sought by many of those living in the ghettoes.

"By more effectively linking federal manpower activities with resources at the state and local levels, we will better be able to deliver all those services needed to equip the unemployed for today's jobs. This is the overriding purpose of my action today," Johnson said.

Under the new guidelines, local committees would be set up to give business, labor and the general public an opportunity to give their views on job training needs and how the programs should be operated.

Hail, Heavy Rain Reported In Area Of W. Van Dorn

Hail and very heavy rain was reported in the West Van Dorn Street area early Friday by the Weather Bureau.

Late Thursday, the Weather Bureau said a tornado-like funnel was sighted north of Hebron. It apparently did not touch the ground. No damage was reported.

At 12:39 a.m. Friday, the bureau said, there was still not "enough rain to wet the concrete at Lincoln Airport."

Convicts Seek Social Grace

Hannover, Germany (AP) — "Dinner is served," a guard announces, and about 120 inmates sit down to eat from chinaware on white tablecloths instead of battered tin plates on bar boards.

Paul Nienhaus, director of Hannover prison, said the guests at such special meals three or four times a month are convicts chosen for their willingness to be rehabilitated and to acquire social grace.

Bishop With Pope On Contraception

Bishop Glennon P. Flavin of the Catholic Diocese of Lincoln says in a letter to the diocese that "if there was any doubt in recent years about the church's teaching concerning the morality of contraception, there is no doubt any longer."

The comment is made in a letter discussing Pope Paul's recent encyclical opposing use of contraceptive methods other than the rhythm method. The encyclical has drawn criticism from many within the church.

"It is true that the teaching of the church concerning contraception will be a 'hard saying' for some and will require great sacrifices on the part of some Catholic couples," Bishop Flavin's letter says.

"However, we pray that the fear of sacrifice will not lead them to abandon their faith."

In his letter to "the priests, religious and laity of the Diocese of Lincoln" and carried in the diocesan newspaper, Bishop Flavin says the Pope's pronouncement "makes it eminently clear that the teaching of the church in this regard has not changed."

"The Church of Christ through its visible head of earth has spoken in the clearest voice and without ambiguity," the letter says.

Clifford Rejects Current Lull As 'Clear Signal'

(c) New York Times News Service

Washington — Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford said a full halt in the bombing of North Vietnam required assurance that Hanoi would reciprocate by stopping artillery fire on American and allied troops near its southern border. At a news conference he said that the current "lull" in enemy combat operations, in the absence of a "clear signal" that it represents de-escalation, would be considered only as a pause before a new offensive. (More on Page 1.)

Yanks Kill More Civilians

Can Tho, South Vietnam — An American river convoy that fought back at enemy ambushes in the Mekong Delta on Aug. 8 killed nearly five times more civilians than military, according to reports from the scene. A military investigation showed that many of the 72 civilian deaths resulted from the use of flame throwers, and that at one point South Vietnamese troops accidentally joined the Viet Cong in firing on the Americans. (Another Story on Page 2.)

Marines, South Viets Both Report Victories

Saigon (AP) —Heavy fighting bracketed the northern frontier outpost of Gio Linh Thursday. U.S. Marines to the west and South Vietnamese infantrymen to the east reported lopsided victories.

The U.S. Command said Friday two Marine companies called in tanks, artillery and air strikes after running into an estimated North Vietnamese company during a combat sweep three miles northeast of the Camp Carroll artillery base. They reported counting 41 enemy dead after the North Vietnamese pulled back. U.S. losses were put at nine wounded.

A few miles to the east, South Vietnamese infantrymen backed by armored personnel carriers reported killing 159 North Vietnamese while suffering "very light" casualties in a day-long fight about two miles northeast of Gio Linh, just below the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone.

Six Mortars

South Vietnamese headquarters said the action was in the same area where government troops killed 107 enemy seven days before. It had few details but said six mortars, a recoilless rifle and five machine guns were seized from the enemy.

Also on the northern frontier, another U.S. Marine unit said it spotted enemy soldiers preparing an ambush site one mile southeast of Con Thien and set up an ambush if its own.

Spokesmen said a Marine reconnaissance team saw 15-20 enemy place claymore mines in position then withdraw to a nearby building. The Marines called in air strikes that drove the enemy out of the building and into a Marine trap. Eleven enemy and no Marines were reported killed.

Complex Found

Far to the south, the U.S command reported Thursday that allied troops seeking to spoil enemy attempts to build up for an offensive discovered a Viet Cong arms-making complex in the Mekong Delta.

U.S. reconnaissance planes spotted the Viet Cong complex Wednesday 73 miles southwest of Saigon. U.S. helicopters landed South Vietnamese troops who found a booby trap plant, two metal shops and a blacksmith shop.

Searching through the buildings, they found 4,800 hand grenades and 400 grenade molds, a large stock of ammunition - making and constuction material and stores of metal. They also seized 1,000 pounds of rice, enough to feed two battalions of about 300 men for a day.

Nearby other South Vietnamese worked through an area where B52 raids Tuesday touched off large explosions. They found fortifications, bunkers and 48 sampans destroyed by the bombing. They killed 18 enemy soldiers, the U.S. Command said.

173 Americans Said Killed During Last Week's Fighting

Saigon (UPI) — U.S. headquarters Thursday reported 173 Americans were killed and 818 wounded in Vietnam fighting last week. The total of 991 casualties was the lowest this year.

The report, reflecting the prolonged absence of major sustained battles, said allied forces killed 1,642 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in the week ended last Saturday.

South Vietnamese losses were placed at 243 killed and 781 wounded.

The American casualties were 230 lower than the toll for the previous week, and raised to 26,634 the number of Americans killed in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961. The number of U.S. wounded now stands at 166,968.

The U.S. report said allied troops have killed 377,711 Communists since January, 1961.

Cambodia Will Return Crew For Bulldozers

Washington (UPI) — Cambodia has offered to return an American landing craft and its 12-man crew in exchange for a bulldozer as compensation for each of 14 Cambodian peasants it says were "gunned down" by U.S. helicopters, the State Department disclosed Thursday.

Department officials refused to discuss probable U.S. reaction to the proposal, but initial indications were that it was likely to be rejected.

Cambodia's offer recalled the $53 million worth of ransom goods paid by private American interests to Fidel Castro's regime for the release of 1,113 prisoners captured by Cuban forces in the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion.

No Guns Fired

The United States has been pressing Cambodia for release of the Army landing craft and its crew of 11 Americans and one South Vietnamese, which the State Department said inadvertently strayed into Cambodian territorial waters July 17. Cambodia conceded the ship did not fire any of its weapons, but nevertheless said it violated Cambodian waters.

In a note dated Aug. 12 and relayed to Washington through the Australian Embassy in Phnom Penh, Cambodia said:

"Despite the U.S. refusal to recognize Cambodia's frontiers and as an indication of its good will, the royal government (of Cambodia) declares that it is ready to return LCU 1577 and release its crew provided the United States Government recognizes its full responsibility for the murder of the 14 people in Svay A Ngong and agrees to pay Cambodia compenstion in the form of one bulldozer for each victim."

The United States has neither affirmed or denied that American helicopters were responsible for the deaths of the 14 peasants, which Cambodia said occurred June 29, about two weeks before the landing craft was seized. The United States has forwarded a report on the incident to the International Control and the Cambodian Government.

The Cambodian note, the text of which was broadcast Thursday from Phuom Penh, dwelt at some length on the death of the peasants, which it said were "coldly and systematically gunned down by two U.S. helicopters." It said the victims included women and children.

Cambodia complained that the United States "has deemed it necessary to pay the slightest attention" to Cambodia's protest to Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations.

Teams Display How To Check On Arms Pact

Newbury, England (AP) — Representatives of eight nations participating in the Geneva disarmament talks ended Thursday a two-day look at how international inspection teams might safeguard a future arms control pact against cheating.

The Soviet Union and its four Communist allies in the Geneva talks, which have long opposed on-site inspection proposals, turned down invitations to come here and see how inspection might work.

The tests, sponsored by the United States and Britain, used 30,000 British troops in this area 60 miles west of London, including some deliberately trying to fool the inspectors.

The idea was to see whether the 80 British-American inspecton teams could make sure the terms of a mythical future arms control treaty were being upheld.

The test, running from June 20 to Sept. 24 at a cost of $3.5 million, is designed to show how the on-site inspection idea works. The results presumably will be used in future British-American proposals at the Geneva talks.

French Expected To Test H-Bomb This Weekend

Orders went out declaring the area a danger zone as of midnight Friday.

The French minister of research, Robert Galley, arrived in Tahiti Wednesday to witness the blast.

2 NFO Districts Select Burrows

. . . Unit Attacks Corporation Farming

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Schuyler — Near 400 farmers met here Thursday for the 9th annual First and Second District National Farmers Organization convention.

Two major resolutions receiving support from the group were (1) eliminate the use of 4-D animals, those that are dead, dying and diseased, from use in pet food and (2) provide support to the Nebraska Farmers Union in seeking legislation that will prohibit corporation farming in Nebraska.

WILLIAM BURROWS

Will Lead NFO

Officers elected were William Burrows, Adams, president; Milo Bartek, Weston, vice president, Ray Ratliff, York, secretary; and Sam Chudamelka, Ames, treasurer.

No. 1 Business

National NFO Vice President Erhard Pfingsten of Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, said the best explanation of agriculture's financial plight can be gathered from annual reports that show agriculture the nation's No. 1 business with a $14 billion net return in relation to corporations in industry realizing a profit of $87 billion.

Pfingsten reported NFO activity now organized in 42 states.

"We have experienced such a rapid growth in membership that it will be necessary to add an additional eight national directors this fall," said Pfingsten.

Other speakers included Congressman Robert Denney, of Fairbury; Clair Callan of Odell and Glenn Kreuscher, Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star farm editor.

Callan reminded the group that agricultural programs "must be funded to be workable" and he termed the right of the farmer to hold production down is equal to what industry has been doing for years to maintain price.

NFO members contend that the use of 4-D animals in pet food hurts the farmer in various ways.

'Cheap Product'

"First, it substitutes a cheap product that competes with our salable meat and second it raises the price of tankage which farmers buy for food. In addition you have the complaints of interested pet owners who would like a meat product without any threat of disease having caused the death of the animal," explained NFO leaders in discussing the resolution.

NFO members said the resolution to support the Farmers Union in curbing the entrance of corporations into agriculture production willingness to work with other groups for a common cause."

While NFO members support government farm programs, Phfingsten noted "you can not depend upon politics to solve all of agriculture's problems."

National Ag Youth Meet Ends With Hope For '69 Institute

Halsey — Delegates to the second National Agricultural Youth Institute wound up two weeks of exploring agricultural and agri-business careers here Thursday night with an enthusiastic recommendation that the event be continued another year.

The 111 delegates, representing Nebraska, 44 other states, Japan and Puerto Rico, urged that efforts be expanded to attract delegates from all states to the 1969 institute.

The delegates were selected by the dean of the college of agriculture of the participating states to attend the institute. All will be high school seniors this fall. The institute is sponsored by Agricultural Careers, Inc., and in co-operation with the University of Nebraska.

Among high points of the institute, singled out by delegates, were "Omaha Day" which included tours of Union Stock Yards, Safeway Distributing Center, and SAC Headquarters; the weekend visit to the farm homes of the Nebraska delegates; and the opportunity to "see" agriculture in other parts of the U.S. through contact with farm youth from other states.

During a tour of the Neal Keller Ranch near Purdum Thursday morning, delegates toured the view of the North Loup River and surrounding sandhills area that is the subject of the Nebraska picture in the "America the Beautiful" series produced by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Thursday night, during a final banquet at the main lodge at the Nebraska 4-H Camp, the delegates received certificates signifying completion of the two-week course.

Dr. James S. Chubb, senior pastor of the Grand Island United Methodist Parish, spoke at the banquet.

Aruna's Release Expected Next Week

Ten-year-old Aruna Shrivastava of India, who underwent heart surgery in Omaha this week, has been told by doctors she probably will be released about the middle of next week. Her father has been at nearby Schuyler studying methods of raising poultry, and residents there paid for the plane ticket for the child to come to Nebraska from India for the operation. Doctors say Aruna probably will be walking by Sunday.

Kiewit Given Nuclear Plant Work

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Public Power District Thursday awarded a $461,259 contract to Peter Kiewit and Sons Co. of Omaha for construction work on a new substation at the Fort Calhoun nuclear plant site.

The substation will connect the nuclear power station with the 345,000 volt transmission line. The contract provides for foundation, ground work and duct work at the substation.

OPPD directors also approved a change in a contract with the Kiewit firm providing for soil desification work at the Fort Calhoun plant site. Desification of the soil is required to meet Atomic Energy Commission design standards and will cost approximately $756,250.

The board rejected a bid of $2,201,011 by Commonwealth Electric Co. for construction of the 345,000 volt transmission line through Omaha. Commonwealth was the only bidder and its bid exceeded the engineer's estimate.

Underground cable work for various construction projects was ordered from Anaconda Wire and Cable Co. at a cost of $86,166.

Omaha Testing Laboratories, Inc., was awarded a $72,4i2 contract for testing concrete structures, reactor containment and miscellaneous facilities at the Fort Calhoun Station.

Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Sales, Inc., was awarded a $61,490 contract for a bare aluminum wire for a 161,000 volt line to be built from a substation at Blair to the Fort Calhoun Station, providing power to operate auxiliary equipment at the plant.

A $56,185 contract went to the General Electric Co. for supervisory control equipment and three substations being constructed in connection with the Fort Calhoun plant.

Directors approved an increase of $46,880 in a contract with the General Electric Co. The original contract calling for purchase of three 345,000 volt power circuit breakers was increased to cover installation of the equipment.

The board approved a settlement of a lawsuit with Parsons Corp., in the amount of $135,000, and authorized condemnation proceedings for easements across various parcles of land in Burt, Washington, Thurston and Dakota Counties. The right-of-way is being secured for the district's new 345,000 volt transmission line.

NU To Sponsor Health Clinic In South Omaha

Omaha (AP) — A neighborhood health clinic sponsored by the University of Nebraska Medical Center will open on Omaha's South Side Sept. 3.

The president of the medical center, Cecil L. Wittson, said the clinic will play an important role in the training programs for family practice.

The clinic will be located in a remodeled house that has been leased by the university at 3018 W Street.

Staffing will be done by medical students, practicing physicians, nurses and medical social workers. A medical center spokesmen said general practitioners who teach at the center are expected to staff the clinic on a rotation basis.

Patients will be charged according to their ability to pay. Remodeling costs amounted to $8,253 and annual operating cost is estimated at $19,800.

Federal Reserve Board Approves Rate Reduction

Washington (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board Thursday approved a reduction from 5½% to 5¼% in the discount rate it charges member banks for borrowing money.

The surprise move, effective Friday, signals an easing of board policies previously intended to curb inflationary competition for money by making it more expensive for banks to borrow from the nation's central bank.

The board ratified action taken earlier Thursday by directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, lowering the discount rate by one quarter of a per cent starting Friday. The other 11 Federal Reserve Banks were expected to follow suit promptly.

Parents With 10 School-Age Children Now Experts In Wholesale Planning

North Platte (AP) — With 10 of their 14 children attending three different schools this year, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of North Platte have become experts in wholesale planning.

Says Mrs. Smith: "The most important part of every morning is to check to see that everyone has on matching socks and shoes." And that means 45 pairs of clean matching socks each week.

Also there are 25 lunches to be packed plus money for four lunch tickets.

"Then you have to remember who has to take gym clothes and band instruments on what days," she adds.

Takes Many Pencils

It means 10 dozen pencils plus ball point pens, erasers and other writing instruments and five boxes of crayons per year for the grade schoolers.

Then there is keeping track of time schedules and activities for the three different schools. However, it's easier this year than last when the Smiths had to do it for five schools.

Along with it is helping the children with their music, selling educational books, keeping in touch with three married daughters, two grandchildren and taking care of two-year-old David, who isn't yet ready to enter the educational world.

Eighteen-year-old Bill will be a freshman at Kearney State College this fall.

The other school-aged children are: Cheryl, 6; Angela, 7; Tommy, 9; Margaret Mary, 10; Mike, 11; Jan, 12; Jimmy, 14; Nancy, 16; and Geriann, 17.

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Nebraska New Party is not, in our opinion, one of the better developments of recent times. Obviously, it seeks to serve a course other than actually win the November election and such a stand for principle may be admirable but will also be divisive.

Additionally, one of the main causes — a virtual surrender in Vietnam — is one with which we are in total disagreement. Still, the party could come up with one plank that beats the position of the two major national parties.

It is the plank seeking to cover the domestic scene in the area of law and order. An early draft of the plank states that "justice and orderly social change are vital conditions of respect for law and order . . . It is demagogic to divorce the call for law and order from the demand that there be an end to racism, inequality and officially sancioned lawlessness."

What this statement points out is the complexity of the challenge we face on the domestic front. Any sensible person would agree with a call for law and order, would take issue with riots in which burning, shooting and looting developed.

Certainly, when the law is broken, it should be enforced. But to base national policy on this and this alone is a folly that would only destroy us.

Law and order and opportunity are synonymous and it is tough to say which comes first. Law and order ought to come first but they can be difficult to achieve without the presence of opportunity. To think otherwise is to engage in impractical dreaming.

And the problem is that too many people seem to place the emphasis on law and order alone. It was a heavy characteristic of the Republican Party platform and of the many speeches that were made at the party's recent national convention, including the nomination acceptance speech of Richard M. Nixon.

Too many people think that if we just cracked down on the vioaters of the law, we would put an end to all the turmoil we are having. Such is not the case, and even if it were, it would still represent a basic human injustice and social inequity.

The plain fact is that without some opportunity, the disadvantaged people of our land are not going to have any respect for law and order. And why should they? Would you?

Would you conform to the disciplines of a society in which you were denied its fruits? Would you live within the framework of a system of law and order that kept you relegated to the status of a second-class citizen?

Under such terms, an individual has so little to lose that his sense of responsibility is dulled. And it is time that a lot of American people quit kidding themselves about the old maxims having to do with hard work and success.

The truth is that the ability and willingness to work are not the key to success for minority groups such as the blacks that they are for the white man.

Nor does the fact that some black men have succeeded in the business world mean that all of them can do the same thing. Success for the black man, too, has come harder than for the white man and has not be as pronounced as it might have been.

And we should toss out, while we are at it, rationalizations of our racism based upon selected examples of black conflicts with the social order in which we all live. Thus, we do not point to one lazy black man as a sample of his race and fine justification for our wholesale discrimination.

We simply have to stop putting ourselves on, stop drawing conclusions from premises that are out of the wild blue yonder. If we really want law and order, we have to create the kind of environment in which they are naturally fostered and encouraged. Law and order are matters of consent from those to whom they apply, not matters of force from which conflicts naturally spring.

The Natives Return To Island Of Bikini

NEW YORK — There was this little item that the natives who had been moved off Bikini 22 years ago, to make way for the A-bomb tests, were being returned at long last.

There hasn't been any nuclear testing around that Ralik Chain of the Marshalls in a dozen years.

So the long exile of the simple and uncomprehending Micro-Nesians is ended, and I wonder what the older ones think of us.

Perhaps they think of us as the Chinese around Chen Tu did in 1944 when we took over their 2,000 - year - old paddies and impressed or conscripted them to drain the rice fields and help us build the two longest airstrips then known to man. From that remote area inside China, we would launch the first B-29 raids on Japan.

As many as 300,000 Chinese would be working on this mammoth project at the same time. The sound of countless thousands of squeaky wheelbarrows hauling crushed rock drove a colonel in the U.S. Army Engineers to such distraction that he ordered all of the wheels and axles lubricated. A blissful silence settled over the scene, but then the Chinese went on strike. The absence of squeaks imperiled them, they said. The squeaks scared away personal devils, as any fool knows, so the harrassed colonel had to order all the barrows un-lubricated.

Well, sir, we destroyed their ancient ways of living and their ageless system of barter. We paid them cash with which to buy rice and clothing elsewhere, and the paper money was meaningless to many of them. Then to top off everything, we let them relocate in a ramshackle village not far beyond the end of one of the runaways.

The first B-29 that took off, fully loaded, lost power and plunged into the village killing a lot of them and burning their new shacks. For a long time after that we had GI's tacking signs on trees and fences in the area stating, in Chinese, that we were really their friends; that we had come halfway across the world to protect them against the Japanese.

There was one flaw in the plea:

None of them had ever seen a Japanese.

Anyway, the Marines took Saipan and then Tinian not long after the airstrips and maintenance shops and housing had been completed, and those islands superseded Chen Tu as a launching pad for the bombers. When I saw it in the summer of 1945, the airstrips were fissured and wavy, and the weeds had grown up from the dried-up paddes below.

Only An Alley

As some such projects go, the $20,000 renovation of the alley running from 12th to 13th between O and P is not a big one. For Lincoln, it will mean no more employment or anything like that. But it does demonstrate a desire on the part of downtown property owners to keep the area modern and competitive as a retail shopping area.

When completed, the alley improvement will be an invitation to pedestrians making their way to and from the various places found in the area. This includes a theater, a bank, restaurants, office buildings and retail establishments. Thus, it is a recognition of the importance of the customer in these times when he appears now and then to be forgotten.

It hardly needs to be said that any commercial area with hopes of maintaining itself must keep abreast of changing attitudes, habits and desires. Certainly, this is known most of all in the retailing business where the customer is the final measure and purpose of everything. It makes no difference what all the circumstances are if customers fail to respond to what is offered them.

In offering them an attractive, well lighted passageway, downtown merchants, hopefully, have just taken the first step. If the alley venture proves successful, which is highly likely, other programs are sure to follow, some of them of even lesser significance and some of them of more substantial proportions. It is a job that has to be done and one that only the property owners themselves can do. Their start is an encouraging one.

Register Matches?

By all the rules of debate, one should not give his opponent an inch. The debate today is over gun controls, and The Star favors strong controls, including registration. But we concede to the opponent a sense of humor.

An example was a letter to the editor of the Tallahassee, Fla., Democrat. Titled "Register Matches?" it read:

"I think all matches should be registered. Everyone knows that arson, fire bombs, etc., are caused by matches and not by those who strike them. Registration of matches would absolutely stop all such violent crimes. Further, I'm sure all honest and law-abiding citizens will want to turn in their matches to the government and requisition one when they can prove a legitimate need for it.

"Of course, it would only be reasonable to expect such a regulation to be accompanied by a promise to return the burned match to the government together with a sworn statement by two honorable witnesses that the match was used according to law. Failing this, the only thing I can see left for the government to do is confiscate all matches."

Funny. But it illustrates how untrustworthy the analogy is in logical argument. A match can only be used once, whereas guns can be used over and over again. And matches don't have serial numbers. Registering matches wouldn't "absolutely stop all such violent crimes;" neither would registering guns, and no one has ever claimed it would. Confiscate all matches? When did anyone suggest the confiscation of all guns?

But if registering matches would help, we'd be in favor of it.

Old Friends Of HHH Become Competition; Car Makers Plan 1969 Price Increases

WASHINGTON — Hubert Humphrey is a believer in competition. In fact he has trained and educated his competition. Sometimes, however, he wishes that the men he has trained wouldn't decide to compete with him just as he is reaching for life's biggest goal.

It was Humphrey, then mayor of Minneapolis and a founder of the Democratic Farmer-Labor Party, who saw the political appeal of a young professor at St. Thomas College in St. Paul and helped him get elected to the House of Representatives in 1948. Ten years later, Humphrey helped the young congressman get elected to the Senate.

Today that young professor, Eugene McCarthy, is running against Humphrey for president.

In 1957 another young professor, this time from South Dakota, got elected to Congress and because he admired Humphrey, they both being natives of South Dakota, he asked Humphrey's advice about getting a house in Washington. Hubert recommended a modest neighborhood in Chevy Chase where prices were not too high.

So young Congressman George McGovern took a mortgage on a house next door to Hubert's at Coquelin Terrace.

Later, when the young congressman from South Dakota wanted to run for the Senate, Humphrey persuaded Lt. Gov. Frank Lindley not to run in the Democratic primary against him. This was in 1962 after Sen. Francis Case died and there was an excellent chance of electing a Democrat. Thanks to Hubert, McGovern was nominated without Democratic opposition. Hubert held a fund-raising reception for him and also approached Mary Lasker, the Democratic angel in New York, to get some campaign funds for McGovern. McGovern was elected to the Senate.

Today the ex-professor from Dakota Wesleyan University is running for president against his old neighbor.

"You work with a fellow for years," Hubert mused to a friend, "then, bingo, he runs against you. However, I'm not going to get mad about it."

Out in California at the Democratic caucus last week, Pierre Salinger, former press secretary to President Kennedy, confided to friends that Kennedy family supporters were putting Sen. McGovern in the race because of the snide speech Eugene McCarthy had made as a eulogy to Bobby Kennedy. They were down on McCarthy, Salinger said.

Two weeks earlier, Sen. McGovern had been in California, conferring with Speaker Jesse Unruh, leader of the Kennedy forces, who aspires to be governor of California. McGovern was quoted as saying he probably could not support Hubert Humphrey.

Back in Washington McGovern came to see his old neighbor, the vice president, said he had been misquoted.

A week later he was in Chicago at another meeting, also attended by Speaker Unruh and Kennedy family supporters. They persuaded him to run. McGovern's will be a holding operation in the hope of tieing up the Democratic convention. If so, it's barely possible, thought not probable, that the Kennedys can pick their own candidate.

It looks as if the auto industry is getting ready to follow the steel industry in bucking the White House for a price increase on 1969 cars. The excuse will be added safety features, though actually the only safety features next year will be two head supports, to prevent neck injuries from rear-end collisions. The head supports will cost around $10. Despite this, government experts have word from Detroit that new car prices will be upped around $100.

Actually, increased auto profits and increased productivity should lead to decreased prices. However, all signs indicate that General Motors will increase prices across the board and that the others of the Big Three will follow.

Some people are wondering what happened to Sen. Abe Ribicoff's hearings which began last February with a demand that the motor moguls make public the details regarding the cost of safety devices. The Ribicoff hearings have now petered out into a plan whereby the auto industry gives cost data to the Bureau of Labor Statistics which promptly treats them as if they were a military secret. Even the Highway Safety Bureau has not been able to get a look at these cost figures.

This is a strange anticlimax for Senate hearings which began with such a flourish. However, the fact is that Ribicoff, an excellent senator, faces a tough re-election battle in Connecticut. If he bucks the auto industry, it can send money into Connecticut to defeat him.

The McGovern Candidacy

WASHINGTON — "Secret Service Agent Snoble speaking. The senator will not return until late tonight." That is a measure of how fast George McGovern of South Dakota has jumped into the presidential sweepstakes, equipped not only with Secret Service protection but press secretaries, official advisers and finance men.

Most of the equipment comes pre-packaged from the loyal Kennedyites who have moved restlessly through the political landscape since the tragedy that befell Robert F. Kennedy. The motives of Theodore Sorensen, Pierre Salinger and the others centering on McGovern are obscure.

They have not forgiven Eugene McCarthy for the kind of attack he directed at Kennedy in the three primaries, Indiana, Oregon and California, that the two contested. They find it difficult, if not impossible, to accept anything like the inevitability of Hubert Humphrey's nomination.

At the same time, they know that the Kennedy delegates, notably California's big bag, are drifting into one camp or the other. Yet, should McGovern accumulate delegate strength as a Kennedy holding operation, where it would go in the showdown is far from clear. He sees his influence primarily on an anti-Vietnam war plank in the platform.

A larger question is what actual political muscle survives out of the Kennedy past. McGovern has said that Kennedy was on the way to nomination and election when the blow fell. Yet this is open to serious doubt.

On June 3, the day before the assassination in Los Angeles, one of the most reputable survey organizations completed a poll undisclosed. The question asked was how people who had voted for Nixon and John F. Kennedy would vote on Nixon and Bobby Kennedy in 1968. The result was so extraodrinary and the weight of the tragedy so great that the poll was put aside.

Of those who voted for JFK, only 47 per cent said they would vote for RFK. Of the 13 per cent who said they were undecided, an estimated 10 per cent, according to the pollsters, would ultimately swing to RFK, bringing his total to 57.

Of the Kennedy voters in 1960, 17 per cent were for Wallace and 23 for Nixon. On the other side of the line, Nixon held 81 per cent of his 1960 vote, with 7 per cent shifting to Kennedy, 10 per cent to Wallace and 2 per cent undecided.

The pollsters have had a rough time of it in this strange and uncertain year. Doubt may be cast on such a remarkable result. Yet, even heavily discounted, it shows a trend running against the Kennedy appeal.

The dedicated and often brilliant younger men whom JFK brought with him to Washington have not fared well in the political wars. Sorensen was defeated when he ran for delegate in his district in New York. Salinger was defeated in his race for a Senate seat in California by the song and dance man, George Murphy. Jesse Unruh, speaker of the California house and chief Kennedy lieutenant in the West, faces an uncertain future with a party split from stem to stern.

Their personal fortunes to one side, they are counseling McGovern in the rarefied atmosphere of presidential politics. This is a heady altitude, new and alien to one of the most honorable and high-minded men in the Senate. His opposition to the Vietnam war was early and unwavering. He has worked hard for a program to expapand agricultural production in line with his conviciton, growing out of his work in Food for Peace, of the folly of the present policy of paying farmers not to produce.

It happens, of course, that McGovern is up for re-election for a second term in the Senate. South Dakota is traditionally a Republican state, with the other senator, Karl Mundt, an ultra-conservative Republican and one of Nixon's advisers. Thus far McGovern has been running way ahead in the polls.

Yet some of his loyal allies are wondering what the consequences will be of his orbit into the presidential stratosphere. Since Kennedy's sweep of the delegate slate in South Dakota on the same day as the California primary, bitter feeling has grown up between the Kennedy and the Humphrey factions.

On the other hand — and this is the way McGovern sees it — South Dakota, a state where fewer than 300,000 votes were cast in the election four years ago, will be proud to have a candidate. As a late starter, he confronts seemingly impossible problems, one of them being money.

Sugar-Ester

Stromsburg, Neb.

On Page 19 of the August 8 Star is the mention of Governor Tiemann and his group's plan to go to Japan to sign a contract with a Japanese manufacturer for use of Nebraska's patented sugar-ester process.

We would like to know what the sugar-ester process is, and why it is being sold in Japan.

MRS. RAYMOND E. JOHNSON

Editor's Note: Nebraska's patented sugar-ester process produces a bio-degradable, non-toxic and even edible surfactant that is usable as the active agent in detergents and as an emulsifier in food products.

This surfactant process, developed for the state by an independent research laboratory for utilization of agricultural produce, uses sugar and meat tallow as its raw ingredients. Other known processes largely use petroleum derivatives.

State officials believe the sugar-ester process has advantages that will make it competitive industrially with others on the market, and are seeking to license the process to manufacturers in the U.S. and foreign countries.

GOP And Demos

Scotia, Neb.

Regarding Mr. Wallace's blast at my comments on Nixon, I'm not gullible enough to think that Nixon has really changed. Remember, he said, "We want to win." Hence, the "new Nixon."

I will guess that he retrieved his militancy approach for the sole purpose of winning and that goes for his promise to the Negro. Remember when he and John Kennedy were debating in 1960. Nixon said he was for education, and Kennedy asked him why he voted the tie off, he being vice president and it being his duty to vote only on ties. He had voted against a bill for education. He had no explanation, as I remember. So why swallow his bait now?

I don't think Mr. Wallace is being honest with himself by saying he has never witnessed any Democratic candidates boosting for civil rights, etc.

Regarding his confab with LBJ, he had better learn about the Vietnam situation before he plunges the world into nuclear war. Mr. Wallace didn't say what LBJ offered by way of help.

Mr. Wallace should note that I said, "If I knew Nixon would live up to the GOP platform, I could vote for him. But I don't think he will."

I'll wager that Mr. Wallace has made more money under the Democrats than he has under the GOP, if he will honestly admit it.

Explanation

Lincoln, Neb.

Investigation has revealed the cause of the resent electrical blackout. The night watchman at the Podunk power house near Fargo went fishing the other night in a leaky boat. He got his feet wet and caught cold and had to stay home from work the next night. A raccoon crawled in through a broken window in the power house and shorted two bare wires, knocking out all the power in Nebraska.

Steps have been taken to see that this doesn't happen again. The watchman's boat has been tarred to stop the leaks, the broken window in the power house has been boarded up till a new pane of glass can be ordered from the mail-order catalog, and the raccoon has been taken to a place 40 miles from Podunk power house.

City May Lose Skate Contest

. . . HOUSING INADEQUATE

By SANDY STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

Lack of enough accommodation space may cause the Roller Skating Rink Operators of America (RSROA) to hold its national contest elsewhere next year, Frank Cahill said Thursday.

Cahill, who is on the RSROA board of directors and in charge of setting up the championship, said he will leave Tuesday for Little Rock, Ark., to investigate the possibility of holding the contest there in 1969.

According to Cahill, the organization likes Lincoln, but the lack of adequate facilities this year has left "many dissatisfied."

Abel Hall, Homes

Around 500 persons connected with the contest have been roomed during the past week at Abel Hall, a men's dormitory on the University of Nebraska campus. Some have also stayed at private homes.

Cahill said that of those housed in Abel, many can afford better housing and some of them are "putting pressure' on the directors to find better conditions for next year's contest.

He said that the organization is under contract to Lincoln for next year and will stand by that contract if nothing else can be worked out.

Cahill said that the RSROA has already requested the Chamber of Commerce to release them from the contract for 1969.

Acceptance Tentative

Cahill said Little Rock, had made a bid for next year's contest and that tentative plans were to accept it.

However, Cahill said, the organization would like to have the contest in Lincoln in 1970 after the city has had some time to construct more commercial rooms.

Cahill said that in 1962 when the contest was first held in Lincoln the Chamber of Commerce had estimated 1,800 commercial rooms available in Lincoln.

Only Wednesday night of the contest did the crowd overflow into University housing and that caused little inconvenience.

Contest Grows

But, Cahill noted, Lincoln has lost two hotels with roughly 400 commercial rooms since then and the contest has been growing in size besides.

This year, Cahill said, the contest came close to its maximum number of 1,350 and this does not include relatives and friends that come with the contestants.

Cahill said that moving the contest for next year, at least, will probably eliminate many problems that would arise.

Little Rock, Ark., has 3,100 commercial rooms, Cahill said.

Want to Return

"We want to come back in 1970," he said and added that he hoped Lincoln would have the facilities to accommodate the contest by then.

"We love Lincoln. We moved our national office here," Cahill said.

The national RSROA office, east of Seacrest Field at 7700 A, will have its grand opening Dec. 2-5, when the executive board will meet in Lincoln for its semi-annual meeting.

The meeting is usually held in Miami Beach, Fla., Cahill said.

$750 Damage Done In City By Vandals

Vandals caused approximately $750 in damages this week, breaking windows in the city in a variety of ways, police reported Thursday.

Officers said that several windshields of automobiles were broken by vandals throwing or shooting what appeared to be gravel at the cars.

The windshields of four cars in the 17th and Perkins area were broken in this manner, police said.

Elsewhere

Elsewhere in the city, windows of houses and in a garage were broken by vandals.

Police said that in one incident two windows of a house were broken by what appeared to be a cherry bomb exploding near the house.

Grenemeier's Liquor Store, 836 No. 70th, sustained approximately $25 worth of damage when vandals armed with a pellet gun shot out a number of light bulbs and letters of a neon sign, police said.

Pellet Guns

Last week, close to $1,000 worth of damages was caused by vandals using pellet guns.

Numerous automobile windows, some of the cars sitting in a used car lot, were broken in that manner, police had said.

Last week's incidents had centered primarily in the northeast Lincoln area.

State Guard Unit Training In Minnesota

Camp Ripley, Minn. — Training is well underway here for members of the First Battalion, 134th Infantry (Mechanized), Nebraska Army National Guard.

The battalion, with units from Omaha, Wahoo, Wayne, O'Neill, Norfolk and Columbus, has been on the move "from dawn to dusk — and then some," according to Maj. Joseph H. Baumert of Columbus, the unit's executive officer.

The men have established a bivouac in the field and engaged in weapons training and platoon-strength exercises.

The field training will end Friday, and the battalion will move back into its permanent camp. Next week will be more of the same.

High School Youths Tour Fire Station

A group of about 30 youths, ages 17 to 22, connected with the High School Equivalency Program at the University of Nebraska, were shown around the Lincoln fire station Thursday.

Firemen explained job requirements and the possibility of employment with the department.

The program, sponsored by the Office of Economic Opportunity, works to help the youths obtain high school diplomas.

Selected from throughout the country, the youths are also aided in searching for employment and in-service training.

The university center here is one of 13 across the nation. Center officials said that the Lincoln center will soon grow to accommodate up to 50 youths.

'SOUL POWER'

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy shouts "soul power" during his speech to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference convention in Memphis, Tenn., Thursday. Abernathy, successor to slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., said Negro voters might boycott the election this year unless there is an acceptable candidate.

Alley Renovation Plan Formally Announced

A group of downtown businessmen Thursday formally announced their intention to share in the cost of beautifying the alley between O and P and 12th and 13th.

The alley, to be known as Rampark Lane, will be renovated with an eye toward encouraging its use by pedestrians who visit shops and businesses in the surrounding area.

James Swanson, president of Hovland-Swanson and vice president of the Lincoln Center Development Association, said at a reception that the idea should serve as an inspiration to property owners on other blocks in the downtown area.

"Hopefully, other self-improvement programs such as this will develop through the years," he said.

The project, unique in downtown Lincoln, will cost the participating property owners an estimated $20,000.

Work is scheduled to start immediately and it is hoped the project will be completed within 60 days.

Fire-Bothered B&R Hotel To Be Totally Boarded Up

Fire department officials said that a condemned hotel in downtown Lincoln, scene of two fires in less than a week, will be boarded up completely.

Firemen stid that the B&R Hotel, 1328 O St., had been entered through the windows on the back of the building.

The front door has been locked and boarded up since the building was condemned.

The hotel had been condemned as unsafe after a major fire on the building's third floor early this year.

Both of the fires during the past week were apparently caused by burning cigarettes igniting mattresses, firemen said.

The first fire occurred Friday and the second Wednesday.

Delay In Cashing Check Apparently Angers Two Men

Apparently enraged by a delay involved in cashing an out-of-town check, two men caused approximately $100 worth of damage to the restroom of a Lincoln tavern, police said Thursday.

Police said that the incident occurred at the Hiway Tavern, 300 W. P St.

Officers said that the men reportedly attempted to cash an out-of-town check but that there was some delay involved.

The men's check was cashed, however, but police said the men were apparently angry at the delay.

Lincoln Firm Ruled Unfair To Laborer

A National Labor Relations Board panel Thursday affirmed a report that a Lincoln firm had engaged in unfair labor practices and ordered the firm to offer to rehire a discharged employe.

The three-member board reviewed the contested findings of trial examiner Eugene E. Dixon, which stated that Kent Morgan Distributing Co. had sought to prevent its employes from unionizing and had fired one man for supporting unionization, and accepted his report and recommendations.

The case was brought before the NLRB when a protest was lodged that the company, a local beer distribution firm, had unfairly fired LaVern Wentling because of his support for unionizing the plant.

The union, General Drivers and Helpers Local 554, subsequently held a consent election, but the company contested two of the ballots, one cast by Wentling and the other by his replacement, Gail V. Walters.

The trial examiner investigated, and reported that the company's president, Kent Morgan, had illegally questioned his employes about their union activity, had promised and granted them benefits for refraining from union activity and had threatened economic reprisal if they engaged in union activity.

Examiner Dixon recommended that Morgan cease all violations of the National Labor Relations Act and that he offer Wentling his former position.

Morgan Distributing objected to the examiner's report and recommendations, but the three-member panel Thursday upheld the rulings and directed the firm to comply with them.

Humphrey Draws Distinction On Views Toward Vietnam

Newark, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey campaigned in vote-rich New York and New Jersey Thursday and tried to draw a distinction between his and Republican Richard M. Nixon's views on Vietnam.

Humphrey, appearing confident of winning the Democratic presidential nomination, announced he would open his campaign Labor Day in New York — thus breaking with the tradition that Democratic candidates start their drive from Cadillac Square in Detroit on Labor Day.

Humphrey wooed labor leaders, plunged into sidewalk crowds to shake hands, and happily posed with New Jersey's Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes, often boosted as a Humphrey running mate.

Speaking from an open car to a crowd of several hundred in front of a Newark hotel, Humphrey called Hughes the "greatest governor in the United States."

'Order, Justice'

In Newark, where 27 persons died in racial rioting last year, Humphrey delivered a plea for "order and justice."

The vice president told a luncheon audience that they are going to hear a lot about the law and order issue from others "who will try to use it to divide America."

Humphrey argued that the residents of slums "are as anxious as anyone else for better law enforcement — perhaps even more so since the rate of crime in their neighborhoods is higher."

Humphrey said poor neighborhoods should have the best services, the best law enforcement, the best hospitals, but he said "too much of America is upside down, upside down." The worst schools and the worst services were in the poorest neighborhoods and in many communities, he said.

Sound Commitment

The vice president, during an appearnace on the NBC-TV "Today Show," acknowledged that both he and Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, "have taken the stand that the basic commitment of three presidents on Vietnam was a sound commitment in terms of our ownnational interest."

However, Humphrey said, differences between his and Nixon's views would "crop up as we go along to debate the issues."

For instance, he said, Nixon came away from a Vietnam briefing by President Johnson with a statement "that we must continue the bombing."

Humphrey said that he, on the other hand, came away warning against "loose talk," but that the peace talks in Paris were serious and might be able to achieve a political settlement.

"It's a difference of emphasis," said Humphrey.

Humphrey expressed belief that the Paris negotiations cannot now be broken off.

Lull In Fighting

Humphrey noted that today's news indicated a lull in the Vietnam fighting, but he said he could not say whether this was a peace signal from Hanoi.

Within the government, Humphrey said, there was an argument going on over whether the lull was a signal from Hanoi and was receiving close study by the two American negotiators, W. Averell Harriman and Cyrus Vance.

But "another body of evidence," Humphrey said, was contending that rather than a lull, it is a buildup similar to the one before the enemy's Tet offensive last January.

Hanoi has insisted that the U.S. stop bombing before there can be any meaningful progress in the talks. The U.S. has called for some indication of reciprocity from Hanoi first.

The United States should stop the bombing if and when "we feel restraint or any reasoned response from the North Vietnamese," said Humphrey, adding:

"The reason I say that is we still have 500,000 men in South Vietnam. We don't want to see them left there without some cover or protection . . . But we are also engaged in peace negotiations and if the stopping of the bombing can aid the peace negotiations, then that helps protect the men."

Humphrey, on another topic, denied charges that Lyndon Johnson was stage-managing preparations for the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. The President, Humphrey said, was maintaining neutrality toward all the candidates.

And Humphrey added, he would like a little neutrality in favor of his candidacy.

Johnson Reported In Good General Physical Condition

© New York Times Service

Austin — President Johnson's doctors have found that the chief executive is in good general physical condition and that there has been "no significant change" in his health since 1966.

George Christian, the President's press secretary, made a statement to that effect Thursday after Johnson received a report on recent X-rays of a chronic intestinal condition he has had since 1960.

Christian was cautious in dealing with the question of the President's health. But the implication of his remarks was that the President is in good shape, that the intestinal condition is no cause for concern, and that no further treatment is contemplated at this time.

The President said last week, after a regular medical examination at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, that he had diverticulitis, which means inflammation of small pouches on the colon. But Vice Admiral George Burkley, the President's doctor, said what he had was simply diverticulosis, a condition common to men of the President's age, in which the colon growths are not inflamed.

"I've given you all the basic facts concerning the President's health," Christian said, "and Dr. Burkley advises that he feels there has been no significant change in the President's physical condition since the 1966 Xrays." Those X-rays apparently were part of a routine medical examination.

"The President's physical condition is good," Christian said later in response to questions. Diverticulitis is not present, he added, and Johnson is not suffering any discomfort.

"I don't know that there'll be any further reports on the X-rays till Dr. Burkley reviews them with the President," Christian said. He did not know when that might be, but there was no indication that early consultation was planned.

Johnson continued working and relaxing at the LBJ Ranch, about 65 miles northwest of Austin, where he has passed the last two weeks.

He is expected to remain there until Congress returns to Washington next month, but may attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago and make side trips elsewhere.

Mrs. Alberta Kuklish, superintendent at the children's home, was present for the kickoff, which is called a "Tribute to Mom" Kuklish.

A representative of the club said that Sertoma members will be contacting Lincoln citizens who have previously contributed to the Cedars Home.

Russians Give Jets To Uganda

Kampala, Uganda (AP) — The Soviet Union presented Uganda's air force a gift of MIG jet fighter planes in a ceremony at Gulu Thursday.

The Uganda armed forces commander, Maj. Gen. Idi Amin, accepted. The number of planes was not specified in official reports.

Amin said Uganda President Milton Obote initially accepted the gift of planes when he visited Moscow in 1965.

Flights Suspended After Crash

Los Angeles (UPI) — All flights of Los Angeles Airways were suspended indefinitely Thursday as federal aircraft safety experts probed the crash of a huge helicopter which killed all 21 aboard in a disaster that was a virtual carbon copy of one in May.

Three crewmen and 18 passengers were killed Wednesday, including the 14-year-old grandson of the company president, when the twin-turbine Sikorsky plummeted to earth in a park on a flight from Los Angeles International Airport to Disneyland.

Eyewitnesses to both this crash and one of an identical helicopter on May 22 in which 23 died said they saw the rear rotor tear loose before the helicopter hit the ground.

The two accidents were the worst helicopter tragedies in American civilian aviation.

Kenneth Hahn, Los Angeles County Supervisor, called for an FBI investigation of the crash. He said there might be a pattern involved.

Seven members of a team of the National Transportation Safety Board from Washington sifted through the charred wreckage of the 28-passenger capacity craft.

A company spokesman said there was no present idea of when the airport shuttle might resume on the 118 daily flight schedules. Operations were resumed the day following the May crash when federal agencies gave full clearance.

Among the passengers killed was Christopher Belinn, whose grandfather, Clarence Belinn, is the airline owner. The lad was enroute home after a visit with his grandparents.

Also killed were four members of the John P. Meehan family of San Rafael, Calif., bound for a day of fun at Disneyland.

The two crashes were the first since Los Angeles Airways began operations in 1947.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

We came over from London on Australia's Qantas. There are 250 transatlantic flights every day. Many of them by foreign airlines, and many unloading foreign tourists into New York.

Foreign tourists are like gold to us these drainy days.

A man with U.S. Travel Service (the government's siren) said: "American tourists spent $4.75 billion overseas last year. Foreign tourists to American spent $1.9.

"Congress is not going to pass a travel tax. So our only answer is to bring more tourists to America."

☆ ☆ ☆

A big job is getting Americans to accept foreign tourists. A hotel manager in New York told me: "He gets off the airline speaking little or no English. The taxi driver doesn't speak his language and is irritated at his broken English.

"The hotel where he registers probably has no one to speak his language.

"The cashier will not change his money for dollars.

"The restaurant waiters look on him with suspicion.

"He appeals to someone on the street for directions, and the person walks away without answering."

☆ ☆ ☆

God help cher Pierre on a night like this! And that is what the Michelin people have done.

The Michelin tire people for years have published a restaurant-hotel guide to France. So famous that Frenchmen carry it. A French restaurateur, dropped from star position in the guide, shot himself.

☆ ☆ ☆

Michelin branched into guides to Spain and Italy, Germany and the Benelux countries.

They have just published a guide to New York City.

Michelin on New York is largely sightseeing. It gives in depth instructions on museums. On Rockefeller Center and the Empire State Building. The United Nations. And there's a supplement on the subway (Metro says the guide in parenthesis).

"Tip 15 to 20% in restaurants and night clubs," says Michelin.

"A little more is expected at the hairdresser's — 20 to 25% of the bill."

The first French edition added: "Attendants in restaurants, who guard hats and coats, need not be tipped as this is part of the service."

The line doesn't appear in the English edition. But if it is still in French, the hat check chicks on 52nd street are in for a big French surprise.

Hat check girls do not get the quarters you lay down. The concessionaire gets them. (To keep hat check girls from temptation, their uniforms have no pockets.)

☆ ☆ ☆

The guide is sketchy on night life, offering only that Broadway "has a heavy concentration of night clubs and bars.

"You can find dance halls in this area where a gentleman can buy a book of tickets entitling him to a number of dances with the taxi girls of the establishment."

The guide is sound on that miserable stream of tips that drains you: the doorman, 25 cents; the airport porter, the bellboy, the men's room gent who whisks your shoulders at 25 cents per stroke.

☆ ☆ ☆

The tourist bottleneck is migration. Planes don't come in a steady stream of traffic. I got in one time where I'm sure 500 or more passengers were waiting to be processed.

This includes a personal inspection of your health card. Then onward to Immigration who looks up everybody in a hot sheet list.

Thence to Customs where inspectors must question everybody and open at least one bag.

☆ ☆ ☆

This time it had been changed. One inspector looked at the health card and my passport. He asked me how much I'd bought overseas. Gave me a clearance card, and I walked out with my luggage.

Maybe it's the new thing. Or maybe they were just short-handed. We'll never know, will we Pierre?

Assault Conviction Taken To High Court

A man convicted of assault with a dangerous weapon upon a law officer asked the Nebraska Supreme Court Thursday to overturn the conviction on the grounds he was too drunk to realize he was attacking a law officer.

A brief filed with the Supreme Court said the man, Charles La Plante, was intoxicated at the time the attack occurred. It said he thus "did not have the ability to recognize and comprehend the fact that the man assaulted was a law enforcement officer."

It said the trial judge, Dodge County District Judge Robert Flory, should have instructed the jury in the case that La Plante could be convicted of the lesser charge of simple assault.

The incident occurred in Fremont early Aug. 27, 1967.

The brief said previous state and federal courts have held that "when the offender has no knowledge that the person assaulted was a law officer . . . the assault is not more than simple assault."

The brief said that while intoxication is "no justification or excuse for a crime," it may be submitted to a jury for determining the degree of the crime.

Syas Asks Board To Study Setup Of Game Commission

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. George Syas told the Legislative Council's executive board Thursday he believes the commission form of government for the Nebraska Game and Parks Department can work if the commission is made up of the "right type" of persons.

The Omaha senator expressed disappointment regarding some of the present commissioners because they "haven't done a good job."

Syas said he would oppose placing the department under direct control of the governor, but urged a study of the Game Commission setup now lest public unrest over recent commission actions prompt the 1969 Legislature "to go publicized as being called for something that should not be done."

List Presented

In a special appearance before the executive board, Syas listed a number of Game Commission developments he said warranted study by the legislators.

Referring to last week's commission directive for the transfer of Fort Robinson State Park Supt. John Kurtz, Syas said the public is entitled to know "what promise, committment or 90-day mortorium" was allegedly made to northwest Nebraska ranchers by the commission.

The commission has a right to transfer employes, he said, but the public has a right to know what "secret committment" is referred to by some ranchers in a recent newspaper advertisement.

Improper Acts

Syas also contended the commission had improperly taken action by secret ballot, had improperly held executive sessions, had failed to give advance notice of commission meetings in at least two instances, failed to take actions by roll call vote and deprived the commission chairman of a vote except for ties.

Syas also noted the meeting at which Kurtz's transfer was decided had been earlier publicized as being called for budget discussion. "That was pretty sneaky," he added.

The senator also noted the commission appointed an interim director and then hired James T. Shields of Longview, Minn., to succeed commission Director Mel Steen without consulting the attorney general's office, and their action backfired.

Syas urged the five-member executive board "to look into the Game Commission yourselves, or appoint a special committee."

'Study Proposed'

Syas concurred with Legislative Council Chairman Jerome Warner of Waverly that an "investigation" could only be authorized by the full Legislature, but said a "study" with a view to new legislation could be made in two days.

The veteran senator said his own research would provide most of the basic information, and the committee would need only "to question commission members and examine its records."

Executive board members present — Sens. W. H. Hasebroock of West Point, Eric Rassmussen of Fairmont, William Skarda of Omaha and Warner — Took no formal action on the study request.

Law To Be Checked

But, Sen. Warner said the group agreed to have the Legislature's research staff look into the state's "open meetings" law as it affects the Game Commission and check out alternative methods for governing the Game and Parks Department.

Depending upon the staff assessment of the workload, Warner said, a decision would be made later whether a special committee could complete a study before the Legislative Council meets in mid-November.

Syas said he has been "disturbed for some time" regarding reports on the Game Commission actions.

"Everyone makes mistakes, but the commission is constantly making them," he said. "I'm not raising a hassle over the Kurtz transfer, but only as to the lousy way it was handled."

Steen 'I Have No Objection' To Continuing

Mel Steen Thursday night indicated that he had no personal objections to continuing to serve as director of the State Game Commission, but would retire if so ordered.

"My position has consistently been this," the 71-year-old director said: "I would abide by the law, whatever it is."

Asked if he would prefer to retire or to continue on, Steen said, "I have no objection to serving."

If Steen's mandatory retirement occurs next April 22, as indicated by the latest attorney general's opinion, the Game Commission would be free to name a successor to fill out the unexpired term ending April, 1970.

Last May, the commission hired James T. Shields of Longville, Minn., for a six-year term effective next Jan. 1, but the action was held void by a subsequent attorney general's opinion.

The opinion said Steen's term did not expire until April, 1970, and no appointment could be made until then unless the position were sooner vacated by Steen's death, resignation or removal for cause.

The latest opinion suggested the post may be vacated a year earlier than anticipated because of the state's mandatory retirement law unless the commission would extend Steen's employment another year.

14 Cubans Flee To U.S. On Crop Dusting Plane

Homestead, Fla. (AP) — Fourteen Cubans fled to the United States Thursday aboard a poison-laden cargo plane that skimmed the waves of the Florida Straits in eluding radar nets.

The refugees, including four armed men, requested asylum after landing at Homestead Airport, 200 miles north of Varadero, Cuba, where they said their flight began two hours earlier.

Aboard the plane were five men, five women, three children and a teen-age boy.

Asylum Granted

All were granted asylum and taken to Miami's Freedom House for questioning and to await resettlement in the United States.

A woman who did not give her name said everyone but the pilot hid in a sugar cane field near the Varadero airport Wednesday night and boarded the Russian-made yellow biplane when it taxied to the end of the airstrip shortly after dawn Thursday.

"We scrambled aboard and took off," the she told police. "We were afraid we would be followed, but there was no pursuit."

90-Mile Trip

During the 90-mile crossing of the Florida Straits between Cuba and Southern Florida, she said, the wheels of the single-engine craft splashed the waves on three occasions.

The woman said the escape was planned for more than a month.

Angel Ricardo, the 26-year-old pilot, said he worked as a crop duster in Cuba and supposedly was beginning a dusting flight when he picked up his passengers and headed the Colt AN2 aircraft to Florida.

Strong Odor

Police at the Homestead airport said the plane had a strong odor of an insecticide.

Rudolph Wanderon, port authority supervisor at Homestead, said Ricardo told authorities he flew at altitudes between 15 and 50 feet in order to remain undetected.

Emergency Phone Number Feasibility Study Sanctioned

The Legislature's emergency communications study committee Thursday gave its sanction to a proposed feasibility study on a statewide emergency telephone number.

State Civil Defense officials, representatives of Northwestern Bell and other Nebraska telephone companies, and other state agencies agreed the cooperative study was needed and should be made.

They said the study would cover the need, legal problems and economics of a statewide number in line with the national effort to designate "911" as the emergency phone number.

Officials told the committee that "911" would not replace the normal telephone numbers of law enforcement, fire or other emergency agencies, but would become a uniform telephone number by which persons in urgent need of help could summon aid.

The "911" emergency operator reached would route the call to the appropriate law enforcement, fire, medical aid or other emergency agency in the area, the committee was told.

Committee Chairman Harold Stryker of Rising City said the feasibility study, when completed, would be forwarded by his committee to the Legislative Council.

State Employment Agency Places Slightly Fewer People During July

Due in part to a 13% decline in agricultural placements, the total number of persons placed on jobs by the Nebraska Employment Division during July showed a slight decrease.

During that month 7,230 persons were placed on jobs throughout the state, or 7% less than July 1967, when 7,753 placements were made.

Thomas D. Doyle, labor commissioner, attributed the decline to the decrease in agricultural placements, but added that nonagricultural placements were on about the same level as a year ago, showing only a 17% decrease.

There were 6,177 new applications for work made during the period — 18% more than last year. The active file of persons seeking employment was 11,899 during July, or an increase of about 13%, compared with last year.

The placement of workers on permanent jobs increase about 3% during the month.

An increase in umemployment insurance benefits was shown in comparing the two months. During July 1968, $366,248 was paid to claimants while a year ago, in July, the sum of $324,267 was paid out.

Increases in job placements for July were noted in the fields of government, finance, insurance and real estate, utilties and manufacturing.

August Weddings For Former Coeds

The candlelight wedding of Miss Sandra Kay Hunter daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hunter of Rock Port, Mo., and Robert H. Cole Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Cole, took place Saturday evening, Aug. 10, at the First Lutheran Church in Rock Port. The ceremony was solemnized at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Harvey Bernhardt.

Floor-length skimmer frocks of silk ottoman in jonquil yellow were worn by Mrs. Gary Meyer of Lincoln, the matron of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Peggy Meyerkorth and Miss Diana Gebhards, Langdon, Mo.; Miss Patty Blum, Howells; and Miss Ann Bradley, Des Moines, Iowa.

Serving Mr. Cole as best man was Steven Sydown, Omaha, and the corps of ushers included Kent Jacobs, Seward; Ronald Frizzell, Auburn Heights, Mich.; Claire Cisney and Michael Salmon, Wakefield; Gary Meyer, Richard Cole, Robert Brogden and Rodney Walker, Lincoln.

Floral appliques of peau d'ange lace patterned the bride's gown of white silk organza. The lace-trimmed bodice was designed with a crescent neckline and the slender skirt, banded with lace at the hem, was complemented by an aisle-wide court train.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cole are graduates of the University of Nebraska, where the bride is a member of Delta Delta Delta. Mr. Cole, who received his Masters degree in business administration from the university in June, is a member of Theta Xi.

Clusters of lighted white candles formed the background in the Presbyterian Church at Valentine, Saturday afternion, Aug. 3, for the wedding of Miss Susan Stasch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stasch of Cody, and Glenn Garrelts, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Garrelts of Gothenburg. The Rev. Lee Hicks read the lines of the service at 4:30 o'clock.

Silk serge in the wheat tone was chosen for the Empire frocks of Miss Dian Stasch of Kansas City, Mo., who was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Pam Stasch, Lincoln, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Judy Zobel, Fairfax, Va. They wore wide-brimmed Leghorn straw hats.

Serving as best man was Milan Franzen of Utica, and the groomsmen were Ron Janssen, Omaha; John Schledewitz, Jr., Maxwell; Roy Bentley and Marvin Widholm, Gothenburg.

Designed in the skimmer silhouette, the bride's gown was fashioned of silk organza in antique white. Peau d'ange lace overlay the high-waisted basque and formed the bell sleeves, and the lace was repeated in horizontal borders at the hem of the skirt, which was completed by a cotillion train of organza. Her train-length veil of illusion was held by a pillbox cap of lace and organza, and she carried a bouquet of cream-toned roses and Fuji chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrelts will reside in Cody, where the bride has been teaching in the public schools. She is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Delta Delta Delta.

TOWN TALK

Life never goes on just as usual in Lincoln we're happy to say. There always is something new to talk about, and since we have some interesting topics this morning we'll forego any mention of the football season which, by the way, opens four weeks from tomorrow.

* * *

We regret to say that some of our news this morning has to do with a popular Lincoln family that is leaving Lincoln — at least half of the family is leaving.

We're talking about Mr. and Mrs. James Evinger, of course, who will be leaving on or around Sept. 5 for Colorado Springs where they will reside. The other half of the Evinger foursome — James, Jr., and Miss Sally, are remaining in Lincoln where young Mr. Evinger is a junior at the University of Nebraska, and where his sister will be a freshman this year.

* * *

It goes without saying that there are farewell courtesies for Mr. and Mrs. Evinger — some of them we have mentioned — such as the party for which, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer were host and hostess a week ago tonight. But there was another courtesy last weekend, also — On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Day were a dinner host and hostess at their home as a goodbye party for Mr. and Mrs. Evinger.

The days to come are not without their courtesies for the departing Lincoln residents, either.

Next Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. George will compliment the going-awayers when they entertain at dinner at their home — And next Thursday Mrs. Evinger is to be the honored guest at a luncheon for which Mrs. Craig O'Brien will be hostess.

* * *

We had some of the college set in the news yesterday, and this morning we have another future coed to mention — She is Miss Sara Bookstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bookstrom, who will be a freshman at Trinity College of Texas, at San Antonio, this year.

Miss Bookstrom will be leaving for Texas on Sept. 6, and just a few days later her brother, Rick Bookstrom, will be on his way to Fulton, Mo., and Westminster College where he will be a junior this year.

* * *

And leaving early in September for Seattle, Wash., will be Miss Lucy Ames who, having graduated from Monticello Junior College, will attend the University of Washington.

suburbia

Kimballcrest
Park Manor

It seems that in every field of endeavor, at any given moment, there are one or two "trend-setters" who catch the public's fancy and dictate (for what usually turns out to be a very short period of time) just what is "in." At present, in the field of entertainment, the Tiny Tim mania is sweeping the country as the long-haired warbler "Tiptoes Through the Tulips" in a falsetto voice that almost defies credibility. In women's fashion we are seeing the influence of Scarlett O'Hara and, going to the other extreme, Bonnie Parker (of Bonnie and Clyde fame); while the masculine set strives for the "look" provided by the Nehru jacket and hippie beads.

In Suburbia, the situation resembles the one encountered on the current political scene — anyone can be a pacesetter as long as he or she is willing to throw the proverbial hat into the ring and go where the action is!

A good deal of suburban action of late has been taking place in Kimballcrest where Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Burns and children, Gary, Christine Ann, and Lorie, have hosted a number of out-of-town visitors. Recent houseguests from Boulder, Colo. were Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Robinson.

Last weekend, the Burnses entertained Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seekamp and children, Mark, 7; Jim, 5, and Chrissy, 3, who make their home in Highland Park, Ill.

A vacation is high on the list of "things to do" for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goeschel. Mr. and Mrs. Goeschel will be spending the next few days relaxing and sightseeing in and around Greeley, Colo.

In the "snips 'n snails 'n puppy dog tails" department this morning, we have news of a new addition to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vincent. He is Master Eric Lee Vincent, and he made his appearance on July 17 at Lincoln General Hospital. Eric, who weighed in at 7 pounds, 4½ ounces, has one brother, Scott, 7½; and a sister, Gina, who is 15 months old.

Completing the young man's family circle are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vincent of Jet, Okla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dillman of Tulsa.

A birthday party is in the news from Park Manor where last Friday, Miss Marilyn-Rae Price became a 10-year-old. To observe the occasion, Marilyn-Rae, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Price, invited six of her young friends to her home for a slumber party on Thursday evening. The next morning the children enjoyed a birthday breakfast, and a little later on, a train ride at the Children's Zoo.

On hand to help Marilyn-Rae celebrate were Barbara Remigio, Veralea Edwards, Eleanor Swett, Suzanne Heidrick, Heidi Hall, and Debbie Krumel.

Incidentally, Marilyn-Rae did some traveling on her birthday. She left Saturday for Sioux City, Iowa and a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Marvin Price; and when she returned Wednesday evening, her brother Shaun headed for Sioux City and a visit with grandmother.

Late August Ceremony Is Planned By Miss C. Leigh Purvis, Fiance

Miss C. Leigh Purvis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald F. Purvis, whose betrothal to Warren Garber of Odessa, Minn., and Chimbote, Peru, was announced last spring, has revealed that her wedding will take place on Sunday, Aug. 25.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 2 o'clock, in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The bride-elect, who just received her Masters degree in public health from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., will be presented a miscellaneous shower next Monday afternoon following a luncheon for which Mrs. Gilbert Erickson will be hostess at her home. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Erickson will be Mrs. Robert Heilig, Mrs. Harry Gaylor and Mrs. Allen Nielson of Lawton, Okla.

Coffee hostesses on Tuesday morning in courtesy to Miss Purvis will be Mrs. Alfred Adams and Mrs. Richard Kosman. The guests, who have been invited to the home of Mrs. Kosman, will present a kitchen shower for the bride-to-be.

Entertaining at a 10:30 o'clock brunch next Wednesday morning will be Mrs. Paul Peterson and her daughter, Mrs. John Pierce (Nancy Peterson), who will honor Miss Purvis at a lingerie shower at the home of Mrs. Peterson.

The bride-elect and her fiance, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garber of Odessa, Minn., will share honors on Wednesday evening at a buffet supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Webster. Hosts and hostesses with Dr. and Mrs. Webster will be Mr. and Mrs. William T. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Silverman and Mr. and Mrs. Willard W. Folsom.

A linen shower will be presented to Miss Purvis on Thursday afternoon, Aug 22, when Mrs. James Stuart, Mrs. Jack Cole, Mrs. William Stenton, Mrs. Harry P. Seward, Jr., and Mrs. W. E. Swanson of Lake Forest, Ill., will be luncheon hostesses at the home of Mrs. Stuart.

That evening, the soon-to-be bride and her fiance will be presented a "round-the-clock" shower at a courtesy to be given by Dr. and Mrs. Horace Munger, Mr. and Mrs. James Crabill, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haynie and Mr. and Mrs. John Hoppe.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hillyer will entertain in prenuptial courtesy to their niece and Mr. Garber, who is a member of the Peace Corps staff in Peru, at a family dinner to be held at their home Saturday evening, Aug. 24.

ABBY: how about the doctor?

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This probably won't make your column, but for the sake of all men who have fat wives, I hope it does.

My wife is 5 feet 3 and tips the scale at 200 pounds, but as long as she is happy, so am I.

Our children adore her, I worship her and friends love her. She is a wonderful cook and housekeeper and she always dresses neat and smells fresh and clean. She's never nervous and grouchy like most women who are always on some crazy starvation diet. To me, she is perfect and I tell her so. I couldn't be more anxious to get home to her every evening if she looked like Sophia Loren. Sign me . . .

SATISFIED

DEAR SATISFIED: If you are satisfied, fine. But is your wife's DOCTOR satisfied? Ask any insurance expert how many years of life one can deduct from each 10 pounds of overweight. Vanity isn't everything, I agree. But if you want that wonderful wife around to "worship" in your old age, give her some food — for thought.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if a friend said to you, "I heard something just terrible about you yesterday, but I can't tell you what it was or who told me because I promised I wouldn't tell?"

HURT

DEAR HURT: I'd send that person a "get well" card.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for parents who believe their son is window peeping:

My fiance has been in that sort of trouble for the past 10 years. He said he did it at first for kicks. Then it became a habit. There followed a series of arrests and jail sentences. He is presently awaiting action on a more serious but directly related offense.

For the 2 years I've known him I had assumed he was "cured" and had not been in trouble. I was wrong. You cannot imagine the heartbreak and shock I suffered when they arrested him the last time.

I beg you, please see that your son consults a doctor, clergyman, school guidance counselor, or any mental health center, but do it now. Later may be too late.

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Seven Notrump and North leads the ten of spades. How would you play the hand?

♠ A Q 6	N	♠ K J
♥ K Q 7 2	W E	♥ A 6 3
♦ A K 9 3	S	♦ Q 8 4
♣ A 5		♣ K Q 10 8 2

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Hearts and North leads the jack of spades. You play the queen and take South's king with the ace. How would you play the hand? (assume that the trumps are divided 2-2 or 3-1.)

♠ A 5	N	♠ Q 7
♥ A J 10 8 6 3	W E	♥ K Q 9
♦ 8	S	♦ A J 10 9 7
♣ A 10 7 4		♣ K 9 3

1. You have twelve tricks to start with and the only problem is to find the best way of acquiring the thirteenth. This can be accomplished readily enough if the hearts, diamonds or clubs are divided favorably, but, to give yourself the maximum chance for the grand slam, you must be careful to cash your tricks in the right order.

The first step is to play off the three top spades, discarding a club from dummy. Then you try three rounds of hearts. If the hearts are divided 3-3, the hand is over, but assuming they're not, you then cash three diamond tricks, starting with the queen in dummy.

The odds are that by this time something favorable has developed. If it hasn't, you're still in reasonably good shape because the chances are the clubs are all good. If either opponent started with four clubs to the jack, he will have been squeezed by this time.

The one line of play to avoid is to cash the A-K-Q of clubs first. If you did this. you would have to choose between a heart and a diamond discard from your hand, and this might prove fatal if the suit you discarded turned out to be divided 3-3.

2. The best plan is to assume that South has the king or queen of diamonds (or both) and proceed on that basis.

Draw two rounds of trumps, cash the ace of diamonds, and lead the jack If South follows low, discard a spade. Ruff the probable spade return, cross to dummy with a trump, and lead the ten of diamonds. If South has a diamond honor it is trapped, since you intend to discard if he plays low, or ruff if he plays high.

If South covers the jack with an honor on the second round of diamonds, you ruff, lead a trump to dummy, and play the ten of diamonds, discarding a spade if South does not produce the missing honor. This play assures twelve tricks.

Army Cooks Lack Gourmet Touch

BY CRAIG CLAIBORNE

(c) New York Times Service

New York — Although the United States Army has achieved a notable sophistication in weaponry, tactical mobility and the development of such sensitive detection devices as "people sniffers" that register friend or foe according to body odor, the Army kitchen remains remarkably oblivious of progress.

If the food of today's mess does not exactly date to the crossbow and slingshot, it hasn't come far since World War II — judging from recent visits to Fort Dix, N.J. and Fort Bragg, N.C.

The menus rely heavily on the traditional meat and potatoes motif, a preponderance of starchy foods and a studious lack of imagination in seasonings. Tomato catsup is still the classic weapon for relieving the monotony of meals.

Let it be added that the food, although dull, is edible and the average American soldier is in no danger of starvation. Even the most fastidious is not likely to waste away.

"The American soldier is the best fed in the world," an officer remarked recently over a midday meal at Fort Dix that included hamburger (someone called it Salisbury steak), hashed browns, mashed or buttered potatoes and a fresh green salad. "The German soldier lives on knockwurst and brown bread. In the French army they walk the cow right into the kitchen, hit him over the head and put him in the pot and that's that."

For someone whose detailed conservance with military food dates back 25 years, criticizing Army food on esthetic grounds is like shooting fish in a barrel.

To gain access to the chow line, the visitors had walked through the kitchen where four or five soldiers were pressing and shaping hamburger, or Salisbury Steak, by hand onto a large baking sheet. The hamburgers had been cooked so that most of the juices had oozed from them, and they emerged from the heat looking dry and ashen. They were taken onto a tray along with the most apetizing part of the meal — a well-seasoned, made-on-the-premises chicken and noodle soup that did have a character vaguely Chinese.

"We had some leftover eggs," the mess sergeant explained, "so we heated them up and dropped them into the soup."

The soup would have been excellent if the noodles hadn't been overcooked until they all but dissolved in the liquid.

The spokesman at the table brushed his soup bowl aside bit into a hamburger and smiled. "You couldn't afford to eat this well at home," he said. A sentiment voiced several times by officers and men in charge of feeding at both Army camps.

Another of the most praiseworthy items in the course of that meal was a clean, crisp salad made with iceberg lettuce and tomatoes. Unfortunately, it was accompanied by a distinctly unhomogenized oil and vinegar dressing that when spooned over the greens by one of the K.P.'s turned out to be mostly unseasoned oil.

There is one concept that Army cooks seem to have learned well, and that is: "We might underseason the food, but we never overseason. You can always add something like salt, but you can't take it out."

It was the understatement of the year, for all the meats were so bland as to be nondescript. Not only was the salt understated but also there was no hint of herbs or spices that could have given the meats character. No parsley, no rosemary, no thyme, only the vague taste of onion to relieve the monotony. Such a observation was equally valid for veal loaf with a choice of two kinds of potatoes and canned peas at a meal sampled at Fort Bragg.

The common excuse for the lack of adventure in seasoning is that the soldiers "are all meat eaters and sweet eaters" with no interest in anything more daring than mashed potatoes.

"Do you know what?" an officer asked rhetorically. "Everybody in the Army always complains about creamed chipped beef on toast. They give it a dirty name and so on, but let 'em come back from a stretch in civilian life and you know what they ask for? Creamed chipped beef on toast."

It was also pointed out that tastes change as men adjust to Army life.

"When a new recruit arrives," an officer said, "he is naturally a bit traumatic. He can't eat and probably loses weight. Besides, he's probably been spoiled with the food at home. After he's been around awhile he gets used to the pace and eats like a horse."

All food for the mess halls in the Continental U.S. is prepared from a master menu made up in Washington six to seven months in advance. The same menus apply throughout the country, although those in charge at each base may use some discretion — corn bread in the south as a replacement for white bread, the addition of certain leftovers, and so on.

An assumed inducement to joining the Army is that it will train a man for a job in civilian life, and in some respects the army is training men to qualify for responsible work in the food field.

One of the most awesome and commendable facets of the food operation at Fort Bragg is the butcher shop, known there as the central meat processing facility. In one almost surgically clean, brightly lighted area, 29 men wearing woven metal aprons to prevent slashing themselves in some vital spot go about their task of cutting meat into steaks, roasts and chops and preparing it for grinding and stews. There are only four regular Army butchers, the remaining 25 are reservists, and they are getting a training of extraordinary concentration.

Pueblo 'Crew' Say Vessel On Spy Trip

Tokyo (UPI) — North Korea Thursday broadcast what it described as a press conference by the captain and members of the crew of the U.S.S. Pueblo in which the men of the intelligence ship said the vessel was on a spy mission when it was seized Jan. 23.

The broadcast contained a lengthy statement allegedly from Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher of San Diego, Calif., but there was no way of identifying the voice or determining the circumstances under which the remarks were made.

"We wish to express our intense desire to be reunited with our families at the earliest possible moment and thereby appeal to the people of the United States to urge our government to take appropriate action to enable us to return home," the broadcast quoted Bucher as saying.

Apology Demanded

North Korea has been demanding a U.S. apology for the alleged intrusion by the Pueblo.

The account further quoted Bucher as describing himself and the crew as "criminals who committed espionage and hostile acts after having intruded into your (North Korean) territorial waters.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the new "confessions" of Pueblo crewmen, like similar statements on Feb. 15, were open to the suspicion that they were not voluntary.

Possibility Open

(But the spokesman, Carl E. Bartch, said the United States "welcomes anything that indicates the crew is being well treated.")

The United States has said the Pueblo was in international waters when it was boarded by North Korean naval forces last January. The State Department has left open the possibility that the ship may have strayed into North Korean waters at some time during its voyage in the Sea of Japan.

This cannot be ascertained until the crew is released and interrogated by American officials, the State Department has said.

Crew Statements

The broadcast Thursday contained these statements attributed to the following Pueblo crew members:

Steven Woelk, 20, of Alta Vista, Kan.: "We are treated for such minor ailments as athletes feet, boils, diarrhea and various skin rashes. I feel myself that the treatment has been quite good."

Darrell Dean Wright, 23, of Alma, W. Va.: "We have periods that are set aside for movies, exercise, outdoor sports, cards and chess which is for our own entertainment and relaxation. I believe that everyone enjoys these periods on a fairly equal basis."

Policarpio P. Garcia, 34, of Cavite, Philippines: "After our evening meal we have free time. On the relaxation we play ping pong. And if somebody doesn't want to play this kind of game they can stay inside the rooms and play cards, chess or read magazines. And also during this time we have music."

Nominee Denies Losing Labor Help

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Senate nominee John J. Gilligan, other Democratic leaders and the Ohio AFL-CIO all denied Thursday reports that organized labor has withdrawn financial backing from Gilligan in the November election.

Frank W. King, pjesident of the Ohio AFL-CIO, said widespread rumors that Gilligan "has lost the support and financial backing of the Ohio AFL-CIO are completely without foundation."

"No deals have been made. No pledges of support money have been made,' King added.

Published reports said the funds, supposedly around $200,000, were withdrawn because Gilligan refused to announce his support for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in his bid for the party's presidential nomination.

Gilligan said, "We have not had any specific pledges of specific funds. Therefore no pledges have been withdrawn or withheld."

Gilligan left here Thursday afternoon on an overnight campaign tour through southern Ohio, accompanied by William Kricher of Washington, director of organization for the national AFL-CIO.

Kricher said plans were made about 12 days ago for him to accompany Gilligan, and added "my presence tends to "discredit the reports of Gilligan losing labor's backing.

"Support of a candidate frequently includes assisting him financially," Kricher said.

Missiles Set For Launching Friday Could Start New Era

© New York Times Service

Cape Kennedy, Fla. — Two new long-range missiles, each presumably bearing multiple warhead systems, stood ready Thursday night for test launchings Friday that could thrust the world into a new era of weapons for mass destruction.

The missiles, the Navy's Poseidon and the Air Force's Minuteman 3, are described by the Defense Department as being more powerful, more accurate and more likely to penetrate enemy defenses than present missiles.

But their most telling advantage lies in their revolutionary new warhead — the MIRV, for multiple independently-targeted reentry vehicle. Each MIRV is capable of carrying from three to 10 hydrogen bombs and showering them on widely scattered targets, a possibility that is said to render current and contemplated anti-missile defense systems largely inadequate.

With the test Friday, the United States is expected to move ahead of the Soviet Union in the development of multiple warheads. A few dozen more tests are being planned before the systems could be depolyed in the early 1970's.

A tight lid of secrecy has been clamped on both launchings. The Pentagon will not even confrim reports that the missiles will indeed carry the MIRV, although it is common knowledge among engineers and laymen here.

For diplomatic as well as military reasons, Pentagon officials would like for the tests to pass relatively unheralded. The tests come at a delicate time in international relations when both the U.S. and the Soviet Union are exploring ways to reach an agreement on curbing the deployment of new strategic weapons.

A group of scientists, including former White House science adviser Jerome Weisner of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, petitioned the Pentagon to postpone the tests until talks with the Russinas reveal whether a missile freeze is possible. Some officials within the Johnson administration are also known to have argued for a delay.

They are worried that, in a missile moratorium, the MIRV would not lend itself to inspection by satellite reconnaissance, which is the primary method each side would employ to check on the other's faithfulness to a treaty. With MIRV it presumably would not be possible to tell how many warheads were deployed on a single missile.

One argument for going ahead with the tests was that the MIRV could give the U.S. a stronger bargaining position. American negotiators would thus be in a position to agree to call off MIRV development in return for a similar pledge by the Soviets to cancel their more advanced weapons systems.

Cure For Ankle Injuries

Cleveland Browns' quarterback Frank Ryan claims he recovered rapidly from two ankle injuries last season because of a daily eight-ounce cocktail, recommended by a lady fan in a letter to him.

"It called for one part sherry, one part honey and half vinegar," Ryan recalls. "I got better just thinking about it."

Kansas State's new basketball coach Cotton Fitzsimmons tells the story about his high school playing days and the team with the nickname Owls. "Their motto was 'We don't give a hoot'," Fitzsimmons says.

Buying For Boys

From the it's supposed to have happened really department:

A father took his eight and 10-year-old sons to the State Fairgrounds races a week ago and in accordance with their ages, bought each an 8-10 ticket on the daily double.

The eight horse was No Hitch and the 10 horse was Cindi I, both of whom won for a $2,447.20 daily double.

Wyoming is said to be having trouble filling its order for tickets to the Nebraska football opener Sept. 14.

"We have orders for 7,000 tickets," says athletic director Red Jacoby. "However, 4,000 tickets is the maximum we could get from Nebraska. And that figure is four times more than was included in the original contract. We feel fortunate to have gotten that many."

Little Hole Tougher

Pro golfer Chi Chi Rodriquez tells the tale about playing golf in Mexico. "I hit into a sand trap and missed the ball three times," he relates.

"Finally, on the fourth swing, I knocked it out of the trap and into the cup. One of the spectators said to a companion, 'Eef eet took heem that long just to get out of the beeg hole, just think how long eet weel take heem to get eet out of the leetle one."

Typographical errors are the bugaboo of any editor, but this one supposedly appeared in a Chicago newspaper recently: "The gallery soon deserted the leaders to follow Miss Jones, whose shorts were falling on the green with amazing regularity. Such form has rarely been displayed on the course . . ."

Who's At Fault

A story and a headline this week on the lack of hitting in the major leagues this season said, "(Branch) Rickey Cause of Hitting Drought."

We thought it was Gibson, McLain, Drysdale and those fellows. Why blame a dead man for the lack of hitting?

Remember last Sunday's televised football game between Philadelphia and Detroit and how the announcers kept talking about what a great crowd they had in Philadelphia?

The actual attendance was 12,176, only a few more than watch high school games at Lincoln's Seacrest Field.

Some Do, Some Don't

An amusing feature in Golf Digest carries letters written by fans to Billy Casper. Like the following:

"Dear Mr. Casper:

"I have read that you are a Mormon and that you don't smoke or drink. Statistics show that the average American male smokes 37½ cartons of cigarettes a year and drinks 42 gallons of liquor a year.

"I would appreciate your sending me your unused 37½ cartons of cigarettes and 42 gallons of liquor because I do drink and smoke."

Twins Keep Baltimore From Gaining Ground

. . . CHICAGO-ST. LOUIS SERIES EVENED

By Associated Press

Mike Shannon belted the first grand Slam homer of his career and drove in five runs to propel the firstplace St. Louis Cardinals to an 8-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday.

Four-run outbursts in the first two innings were all the Cardinals needed to wind up season play against the runner up Cubs with a 9-9 standoff.

Nelson Briles toyed with the Cubs before another Wrigley Field ladies day crowd of 34,811, including 23,116 paid. Briles recorded his 16th triumph against seven losses with a seven-hitter for his shutout.

In splitting a four-game series, which left the Cards 14 games in front, the top two National League clubs played before a total of 121,750.

The loser, Kenny Holtzman, now 8-9, was bombed out in the Cards' four-run first, capped by John Edwards' two-run double. Lou Brock opened the game with a two-bagger and scored on Julian Javier's double. Shannon scored Javier with a single.

Shannon's grand slammer in the second greeted Bill Stoneman who relieved Jack Lamabe after Briles' single and two walked filled the bases. Shannon also singled in the ninth for his ninth hit of the series.

Once the Cardinal damage had been done, it was a day of rookie battery experimenting by Cub Manager Leo Durocher.

Donn Clendenon singled home one run in the first inning and another scored on an error as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the San Francisco Giants 2-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Steve Blass.

The loss ended the Giants' five-game winning streak.

Doug Rader's eighth-inning run-scoring double broke a tie and gave the Houston Astros a 3-2 victory over Philadelphia.

Rod Carew beat the relay to first on a potential inning-ending double play to drive in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning as Minnesota clipped Baltimore 2-1 for a split in a twi-night doubleheader.

The Orioles won the opener 4-3 with three runs in the fifth inning on Larry Haney's homer, a sacrifice fly and an error.

The split left the second-place Orioles seven games behind idle Detroit.

Gary Bell worked his way out of a couple of early-inning jams and then pitched brilliantly in hurling the Boston Red Sox to a 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Bell, posting his 10th victory in 18 decisions, retired 19 consecutive batters after Buddy Bradford singled for Chicago's third hit with one out in the second.

The string was broken when pinch-hitter Leon Wagner walked with two out in the eighth. The White Sox got only four hits.

The Red Sox completed the season series with a 14-4 margin over Chicago.

Tom Satriano singled in two runs before Jim McGlothlin's four-hit pitching and the California Angeles beat Washington 3-1, snapping a three-game losing streak.

Reggie Jackson's two-run homer capped a four-run fifth inning and Lew Krausse protected it with clutch relief pitching as the Oakland Athletics stopped the New York Yankees, 4-3, on the Coast.

SERIOUS TALK ON MOUND

It was a pitching mound conference in the annual Cincinnati Reds Father-Son game when two-year-old Victor Perez, son of Tony Perez, came up with a wild streak. Conferring with him are co-managers of the Sons, Fawn Rose, 3, daughter of Pete Rose, and Barby Ruiz, 3, daughter of Chico Ruiz. The kids won the game.

'Skins, Colts To Test QB's

. . . 12-GAME SCHEDULE

Washington (AP) — Johnny Unitas, the star quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, will be opposed by Henry Theofiledes, a quarterback graduate of the Washington Redskins' taxi squad, at the start of the National Football League exhibition tonight.

Unitas won't be in there more than a half. With Jim Ward, the Colts' backup quarterback out with a twisted knee, Coach Don Shula plans to give Terry Southall, the former Baylor star, a shot at leading the team. Southall was on the Colts' taxi squad last season.

Sonny Jurgensen, Washington's veteran quarterback, still is recuperating from a May 18 operation on his right elbow.

So Coach Otto Graham will go with Theofiledes, who led the Skins to victory over Atlanta last week. Graham also will use Jim Ninewski, the veteran, and rookie Gary Beban, the Heisman Trophy winner from UCLA, to run the club.

Washington has lost 16 straight to Baltimore but both coaches are more concerned about trying out quarterbacks than streaks although neither likes to lose.

Baltimore, 2-0-0, beat Oakland's American Football League champions 14-12 and the Chicago Bears 10-0 in two starts. Washington, 1-1-0, lost to Houston of the AFL 9-3 and then topped Atlanta 16-14.

Theofilades, a two-year member of the taxi squad, is a 5-foot-10, 180-pounder from Waynesburg, Pa. He has hit on 28 of 43 passes for 65.1 per cent.

The Friday night NFL game kicks off a four-day, 12-game schedule for the two major leagues. It winds up on Monday night with a national television game over CBS between the Chicago Bears, 1-1-0, and NFL champion Green Bay Packers, 1-1-0, at Milwaukee. Starting time for the Monday nighter is 8:30 p.m., CDT.

Joe Namath, the Jets' star quarterback, will see little if any action agaiinst Boston because of a sore and swollen left knee. Thus there will be a matchup of two traded players at quarterback.

Rookie Pro Even Plays Well Without His Cigar

. . . MURPHY LEADS WESTCHESTER

Harrison, N.Y. (AP) — Rookie pro Bob Murphy, chipping in for an eagle and putting for seven birdies, cranked out an eight-under-par 64 for a single stroke first-round lead in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic Thursday — and shook up the cigar industry.

"I may never smoke again," commented the rotund, 25-year-old former National Amateur champion from Nichols, Fla., after setting a near record par-cracking pace over the 6,648-yard, par 72 Westchester course.

Normally, a chain cigar smoker who burns up four or five a round, Murphy, because of his early starting time, was unable to stock up on his favorite brand and had to make the tour with his clubs, particularly his putter, doing all the smoking.

"I really didn't notice it much, he said. "I concentrated better than I have in any tournament so far as a pro."

Lawyer-golfer Dan Sikes birdied nine of the 18 holes in firing a 65 for second place, followed by 44-year-old Art Wall, Jr., former Masters winner, at 66 and big Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion and red-hot favorite, at 67.

Sikes, who thought he had blown his chances three times last year before getting a reprieve each time because of rain, set the course record — a 62 — in the second round in 1967. He finished a stroke back of Nicklaus.

"They're going to shoot this course full of holes today," Arnold Palmer said before starting his 71 round, and the players did. Weather was perfect — sunny, cool, little wind, with lightning fast greens.

More than 50 players broke Westchester's par, but it wasn't a record. Ninety-three players bettered par in the first round of the Pensacola Open last spring.

Graebner-Santana Face-Off Kicks Off Inter-Zone Today

Cleveland (AP) — Clark Graebner, the hometown product with the sizzling serve and volley, will meet veteran Manuel Santana, Spain's foxy tactician, in the opening match today of the Davis Cup inter-zone matches.

Both captains, Don Dell of the United States and Jaime Bartroli of Spain, expressed satisfaction with the draw Thursday.

In today's second singles match, Juan Gisbert, Spain's 26-year-old position player, will face Arthur Ashe, the United States star who has won seven tournaments this year. Ashe, 25, is a lieutenant in the Army and is noted for his big serve and speed.

The doubles pairings for Saturday will not be decided until that morning.

In Sunday's windup, Gisbert will meet Graebner in the first match and Santana will take on Ashe. 4

One point is awarded for victory in each match. The winner of the challenge round next will play the winner of the West German-India series, with that victor advancing against Australia for possession of the Cup.

Drawing for Spain was made by the Marques de Cabanes of Barcelona. The United States drawing was made by Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland.

The Marques told a large audience at the draw that "We are happy to be in America — and play in the Davis Cup, and I think my players will be most happy if they win."

Mayor Stokes assured the visitors that it was "a great honor and privilege for Cleveland to host the matches."

Bartroli said that "it was one we almost wanted to get."

"If we had had our choice I think we would have liked to have Santana play Graebner first," Bartroli added. "Psychologically, however, it may have been a little better for us if the Ashe-Gisbert match was first instead of second."

Bartroli disclosed that his fine doubles player, Luis Arilla, definitely would be unable to compete because of a pulled muscle in the calf of his right leg. He would not reveal his doubles plans, but Santana is a cinch to be one of the tandem.

Santana, 30, won at Wimbledon in 1966 and at the Nationals in Forest Hills in 1965. He is regarded by many as the world's outstanding amateur and has an outstanding forehand and a tremendous sense of touch. Experts say he has no basic weakness on any type of court.

Graebner, 24, recent winner of the National Clay Courts, defeated Santana in the third round at Wimbledon a month ago.

"I know how good Graebner and Ashe are," said Santana. "It makes no difference who I play first. I am satisfied that it's Graebner."

Dell said that Graebner and Ashe give the United States tremendous balance.

Pro Golf Rebels Arranging Tour

Harrison, N.Y. (AP) — The International Professional Golfers Association, the new organization made up of rebels from the PGA, is busy here this week conferring with sponsors and assigning dates for the 1969 tour schedule.

They told me not to sign with anybody until we hear from them," one southern sponsor said Thursday as the $250,000 Westchester Classic opened.

"We have been given definite dates and we are pleased with them."

The PGA, having called an extraordinary meeting of its executive committee today in West Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., has announced that the door still is open for further negotiation with the touring pros.

Minors' Shuffling Is Talked Over

St. Louis (AP) — About 40 minor and major league minor and major league baseball executives met Thursday with William Eckert, baseball commissioner, to discuss realigning the minor leagues.

Eckert said it appeared there would be three triple A leagues next year, including an eight-team International League, an eight-team Pacific Coast League and a six-team Midwest circuit.

Each of the established 20 major league teams would be affiliated with one of the 22 minor league teams. The four new enteries into the majors next year would have working arrangements with the other two minor league teams.

Dugdales Bounce Back To Drop AAMCO, 1-0

By VIRGIL PARKER

York — Dugdales of Omaha, losers to AAMCO — the other Metro entry — in four of five meetings this season, snapped back to register a 1-0 victory and prolong the Class A State Junior American Legion baseball championships here Thursday night.

Dugdales, who dropped the opening game to AAMCO here last Sunday by a 4-1 count, scored an unearned run in the seventh inning with the help of the game's only two errors.

Winner Greg Kamp picked up his 11th win against two losses, but his three-hit performance was matched by AAMCO's Jim Jacobsen, who struck out 13 Dugdales.

Jacobsen fell victim to his teammates' lack of support when first baseman Dan Hill muffed Wayne Clure's easy grounder. Clure moved to second on a wild pitch and scored after two were out when third baseman Gary Puncochar fired Bob Allen's grounder into right field.

Neither team was able to get more than one hit in any frame, although AAMCO's threatened to tie it in the bottom of the seventh on one of Ed Teshack's two base hits and a walk. However the rally died, sending the championship game into a final showdown battle tonight at 8.

Cubs Can't Stop Cards, But Don't Tell The Fans

. . . 1 MILLION MARK PROBABLE

Chicago (AP) —The Chicago Cubs may not overtake the St. Louis Cardinals. But that doesn't seem to dampen an incredible surge of Cub fan interest which may produce the club's first million home attendance in 16 seasons.

This week, launched by a four-game showdown with the first-place Cards, may whirl almost 250,000 fans through the Wrigley Field turnstiles by the time Sunday's twin bill with the Cincinnati Reds ends.

It couldn't be called pennant fever, not with the Cardinals coming to town Monday with a 14-game lead over the runnerup Cubs and a month and a half of the season remaining.

The best explanation could be the comment Thursday by owner Art Allyn of the straggling Chicago White Sox.

"The Cubs are playing exciting baseball and they're beating the No. 1 team, the St. Louis Cardinals," said Allyn, whose own team is down 30,000 in attendance this season despite a shot-in-the-box-office by eight Milwaukee "home" games.

"The Cubs are whacking that ball around and that creates excitement within the crowd."

The remarkable thing about the Cub attendance has been that Wrigley Field is the only big league field without night baseball.

For the first three weekday matinees against the Cardinals, the series averaged better than 32,000 delirious fans, some arriving shortly after the crack of dawn to buy tickets.

Monday, the paid crowd was 32,733. On Tuesday, it jumped to 35,198. On Wednesday, 30,693 came out to watch the Cards' peerless Bob Gibson stick a pin in the Cub balloon, apparently, with a 3-1 pitching triumph.

The Cubmania didn't start with the Card series, nor does it seem destined to fade as the Cards left town after Thursday's windup.

Since June 8, the Cubs have had eight crowds, ranging from over 30,000 to a capacity 42,261 at a Sunday twin bill with the Los Angeles Dodgers July 28.

This weekend ticket manager Jack Maloney expects the series with the Reds to draw about 25,000 today; 37,000 to 40,000 Saturday and perhaps over 42,000 for Sunday's double header.

Through Wednesday's game with the Cards. Cub home attendance for 48 dates was 747,897, including almost 100,000 for the first three games of this week's series with the Cards.

"We'll obviously hit over the million mark for the first time since 1952," said the hard-working Maloney, who isn't complaining a bit over his dawn-to-dusk duties.

Beyond financial returns, Phil Wrigley, 73-year-old owner of the Cubs, feels the "Cub power" team has scored a big moral victory for him.

"I get one personal satisfaction," said Wrigley, who steadfastly has held out against bringing night baseball to his ball park.

That's how many times we inspect a Volkswagen.

These are some of the ok's our little car has to get in our factory.

(It's easy to tell the ok's from the no's. One no is all you ever see.)

We pay 8,397 people just to look for things to say no to.

And no is no.

A visitor from Brazil once asked us what we were going to do about a roof that came through with a dent in it.

Dents are easy to hammer out. So what we did shook him a little.

We smashed the roof down to a metal lump and threw it out in the scrap pile.

We stop VWs for little things that you may never notice yourself.

The fit of the lining in the roof.

The finish in a doorjamb.

In the final inspection alone, our VW has to get through 342 points without one blackball.

Linen-White Tennis Visits Central Park

. . . AND 'HERE COME DE JUDGE'

By ROBERT LIPSYTE

© New York Times Service

CHUCK McKINLEY

New York — Scores of little boys sat on green park benches in Harlem this week and watched Chuck McKinley and Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico play tennis. McKinley slammed a volley off the court, and an official sitting near the boys roared: “Oowwt.”

“What he say?” asked one boy.

“He said, ‘Out’ ”.

“Why'd he say that?”

“ ‘Cause he's the judge.”

The first little boy deepened his voice to say, “Here come de judge,” and they all shook with laughter.

It was not easy going for the boys, who didn't understand the scoring system, and could not hear the umpire and were only vaguely impressed that McKinley was a ‘‘Wimbledon Champion.” Early in the match, the boys had decided to root for the dark Loyo-Mayo. One of them pointed to the Mexican and said: “I like that one. Who's he?” But soon they switched their allegiance to McKinley, whose humor and emotion and scrambling intensity is even more appealing a few feet away, on the other side of a standard metal Parks Department fence, than from center court in a stadium.

The tennis tournament, which ended Wednesday in Central Park, was created for people who would not attend Wimbledon, Southampton or Forest Hills this year. Admission was free, and matches were played in Ghetto areas in Queens, Brooklyn and Manhattan. Eighteen top-flight players participated in the city-sponsored event which, like thousands of other sports events throughout America this summer, is supposed to be a cooling compress on the nation's fevered brow.

There is a great deal of controversy about summer safety-valve programs. Some think they are bread and circuses that divert energy from constructive long-range goals, and are racist in their condescension and subtle suppression. Others think they are healthful and joyful and encourage good citizenship through exercise and the learning of rules and boundaries. Most people these days agree they are “Band-Aids.”

But the tennis program and Thursday night's professional basketball all-star benefit for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and New York City's Youth and Physical Fitness Fund are somewhat special in that they represent new and exciting elements in sport's continuing revolution.

For poor people and people who are socially restricted, tennis has always been a “sophisticated' sport. It has been associated with colleges, clubs and resorts. Its uniform, pure white, had great significance in pre-wash-and-wear days when one wore linen and had it cleaned by hand.

Tennis's cachet has been enormous: People have been known to carry rackets — like some college boys used to carry pipes — purely as ornaments. And early Soviet editorialists denounced tennis as ‘‘decadent'' and “bourgeois” until their country had reached a standard of living at which courts could be built. The Soviet Union now has a Davis Cup team.

In America, tennis is apparently on the verbe of becoming a commercially big-league sport, with licensing and product tie-ins and television contracts. The broader its base, the bigger the returns, for admission and equipment and never-wrinkle shorts and, ultimately, perfumes called Love-All and men's colognes called Overhead Smash.

High-level tennis came to Harlem because the tennis world changed and expanded, and the basketball players scheduled their game because they, too, realized they are in the world. Larry Fleischer, the players' lawyer, called it “an awakening” because pro ballplayers had never quite done something on so large a scale on their own initiative.

Oscar Robertson, the Cincinnati star and president of the Players' Association, said that the game, a tribute to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was not a “black thing or a white thing, but a down-to-earth feeling to show where we stand.”

Several years ago, during racial disturbances in Cinciannti, Robertson was asked by city authorities to go out and cool down his brothers. He refused. The politicians, he said had been elected to control and run the city “for all the people.” When they failed, and allowed a city to fall into chaos, he said, they shouldn't start looking for instant leaders to pull them out.

“They call when there's chaos,” said Robertson, “But they never call you when they're making their deals and turning their $10 million into $25 million.”

Rosette Upsets Ex-Sidney Boxer

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — Unranked Jimmy Rosette of San Diego, Calif., scored a stunning upset Wednesday night over the World Boxing Association's No. 3 middleweight contender, Ferd Hernandez of Las Vegas.

Rosette, announced at 163½ pounds, was an underdog, but he scored a unanimous 10-round victory. Judge Mike Petrovich scored it 49-44, Art Lurie 49-43 and Ralph Mosa 50-42.

Hernandez, 165, inactive recently, was consistently beaten to the punch by the southpaw.

The 27-year-old Hernandez, formerly of Sidney, Neb., was knocked down for the second time in his professional career in the forth round. Rosette continually rocked him with sharp lefts to the head.

Keep It Beautiful
If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter.
But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.
It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts.
This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Pact Signed For First Phase Of Communications Network

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Department of Administrative Services signed Thursday a lease agreement with the Nebraska Consolidated Communications Corp. for the first phase of the proposed integrated state telecommunications network.

NCCC, a group of independent Nebraska telephone companies, will install and lease the system to the state for $188,196 per year.

The earlier proposal was $194,124, but Charles Adams, state telecommunications director, said telephone service and two base radio stations had been eliminated in the final contract.

Radio, Teletype

Adams said the telephone service "is not needed now, but can be installed later" and the network will be confined to radio and teletype services.

The number of base stations was reduced from eight to six as providng adequate coverage to mobile units and between agencies in the initial 26-county area.

The microwave network, which is to be totally operational not later than March 2, will operate on a 24-hour basis and link 25 southeastern and south-central counties in the state.

Lincoln, Grand Island

Control and switching centers for the network will be located in Lincoln and Grand Island.

Adams said useful segments of the system can be accepted by the state with prorated cost basis prior to completion of the entire system.

Nebraska has $255,840 available for the network, which represents a pioneering venture into state communications. Half the money will come from the federal government.

Counties selected for first phase participation are Cass, Douglas, Otoe, Nemaha, Richardson, Pawnee, Johnson, Lancaster, Gage, Adams, Jefferson, Saline, Thayer, Fillmore, Nuckolls, Clay, Webster, Hall, Hamilton, Merrick, Nance, Howard, Greeley, Sherman and Valley.

Nebraska Called First To License Technology

Nebraska laid claim Thursday to becoming the first state in the nation to develop and license its technology to a foreign company.

The process, which uses sugar and tallow to produce sucrose esters, was licensed in Japan Thursday to Dai-Ichi Kogyo Seiyaku Co., Ltd., of Kyota, a leading Japanese chemical maker. The process will be used in the production of a wide spectrum of products ranging from cosmetics to animal feeds.

It was developed under Nebraska's tax-financed program of research into new uses for farm products.

Tiemann Attends

Representing Nebraska at the agreement signing ceremonies in Japan were Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann; James W. Monroe, state economic development direc- Dr. George Schrader, director Economic Development and Mel Kammerlohr, assistant James W. Monroe, state economic development director; Nebraska attorney general.

"We see this development as a tangible indication of the progressive attitudes in Nebraska for strengthening and diversifying the state's agricultural economy through scientific research efforts," Gov. Tiemann said in comments released at the Capitol in Lincoln.

"New products and new uses for existing products mean added value for the farmer and the economy of Nebraska.

"Today's signing in Japan is part of Nebraska's efforts to develop licensing agreements with industrial firms in strategic points throughout the world as a means of enhancing the markets for Nebraska-produced sugar and tallow."

Official Process

The process is called officially the Nebraska-Snell process for the manufacture of sugar esters. It was developed by Foster D. Snell, Inc., subsidiary of Booz, Allen Applied Research, Inc., under contract with the State of Nebraska.

Nebraska holds all patent rights on the process and will receive royalties from the Japanese firm.

The use of sugar and tallow in the new method of producing sugar esters enables them to be produced at a cost that is generally less expensive than pesent processes. Sugar esters are a base product used in the manufacture of soaps and detergents, cosmetics and toiletries, pharmaceuticals, paints and varnishes, petroleum products, food emulsifiers, animal feeds and other products, as well as for washing fruits and vegetables.

In addition to the sugar ester process, several other new products and techniques have been developed under the Nebraska agricultural products research program. They include the Nebraskit, a low cost food widely used to stock fallout shelters, and an edible food packaging film made from amylose corn.

Drivers Licenses Said Improperly Ordered Revoked

Procedures used by Larry C. Johns, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, in revoking drivers' licenses were challenged in two petitions filed in Lancaster District Court Thursday.

Alan M. Simpkins alleged that the order he received Aug. 8 was invalid because it was signed by Charles P. Kaufman, instead of the director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Duncan L. Pullen Sr. filed a petition stating that the order he received July 31, was invalid because the figuring of the points was inaccurate.

Both plaintiffs request that their licenses be returned to them.

State Mental Retardation Program Launched

The Governor's Committee on Mental Retardation Thursday launched efforts to implement the state's proposed mental retardation program.

The basic plan, developed by a study committee, calls for well-dispersed services across the state for the mentally retarded and decentralization of the present institutional concept.

Committee chairman Mrs. Al Kaplan of Omaha said a series of "town hall" meetings on the plan would be held in population centers and special interest areas beginning about mid-September.

She said a meeting schedule would be announced later, but the committee envisions at least one meeting every two weeks and continuing until the Legislature convenes in Januray.

The plans calls for some recodification of present state laws and greater infusion of state money into programs for the mentally retarded.

It proposed reduction of the Beatrice State Home population, and development of services statewide through community and nonprofit corporations.

The committee also endorsed the state's educational service units as a vehicle for state-aided services to the mentally retarded.

Shooting At Looters Will 'Divide' Nation

Chapel Hill, N.C. (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said Thursday that encouraging police to shoot looters could lead to "guerrilla warfare in our cities and division and hatred among our people."

"Far from being effective, shooting looters divides, angers, embitters, drives to violence," Clark said. "How many dead 12-year-old boys will it take for us to learn this simple lesson?"

Clark delivered a blunt warning against persons advocating shooting looters and others caught in the act of committing crimes against property in an address to the National College of State Trial Judges at the University of North Carolina. Only Wednesday Clark made it clear he is not going to accept in silence the Republican charge that he deserves major blame for crime and lawlessness for not taking a tough enough stand for law and order.

'Loose Talk'

"This loose talk of shooting looters must stop," Clark said. "No civilized nation in history has sanctioned summarily shooting thieves caught in the commission of their crime. None has used shooting as a control device."

"Shooting looters creates the very problems its advocates claim is their purpose to avoid. The death of the 12-year-old looter and the innocent bystander will inflame minds and spirits for a generation. Is this American justice?"

He said drunken drivers killed 25,000 persons last year in automobile accidents, so "why not shoot drunken drivers?" He said bank embezzlers steal ten times more money each year than bank robbers, so "should we shoot embezzlers?'

Police Training

Instead, Clark said, "The need is to train adequate numbers of police to prevent riots and looting altogether.

"Where prevention fails, looters must be arrested, not shot. Adequate police manpower, adequately deployed, could prevent looting on any large scale from ever occurring. This failing, it is the clear and unquestioned duty of police to arrest looters, like all other law violators . . . but even when convicted, they will not be shot."

Clark said the use of deadly force in such circumstances "is neither necessary, effective nor tolerable.

"Anyone who thinks bullets are cheaper than adequate numbers of $10,000 per year college-trained policemen values life cheaply and misunderstands human nature."

Corregidor, armed to its crest during the Spanish-American Wur, was one of the islands which Adm. Dewey was forced to deal with in the historic Battle of Manila Bay. His fleet slipped by the Rock in the night to destroy a Spanish armada in May 1898.

UP TO BOY

The Rev. Clay Lumpkins, an Iowa minister arrived in San Francisco Thursday to find out whether Mark Painter, 10, prefers to live with his father and stepmother in California or his grandparents in Ames, Iowa. The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bannister, commissioned the minister to come and talk to Mark, who has been visiting his father, Mark Painter. Mrs. Bannister said, "If Rev. Lumpkins is convinced that Mark wants to stay in California, I shall accept that decision."

Cable In Service

New York (UPI) — A new undersea cable was placed in service to improve communications between the U.S. mainland and Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced.

Negroes Said 'Cool' To Republican Party

San Diego, Calif. (AP) — A Negro adviser to Richard M. Nixon said Thursday that some of the Republican presidential candidate's top aides seemed very much concerned about a seeming Negro revolt from the Republican party.

After conferring with Nixon, J. Earl Dearing, Lousiville prosecuting attorney, told a news conference that the selection of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew as vice presidential candidate had made Negroes "cool" to the party.

Dearing is a member of the Nixon Advisory Council on Crime and Law Enforcement, which met with the candidate at his working vacation headquarters.

Between the sessions, Dearing and other members of the group briefed newsmen and he was asked about Negro reaction to Agnew's nomination.

dearing replied that Agnew's gubernatorial campaign had left a good impression but "since that time, after the riots occurred in Baltimore he apparently had a change of attitude in dealing with the Negro problem."

"I hope he will do something between now and the election to improve his image," Dearing said.

Under questioning, Dearing said that "I didn't exactly mean revolt" when he discussed Negro feelings about Agnew he said "seeming dissatisfaction or coolness" would be a more accurate term.

Dearing said he became aware of concern in the Nixon camp during conversations with the candidate's strategists. He recommended Agnew "meet with Negroes from the ghettoes and formulate some positive program."

Negro Working For Agnew Quits

Annapolis, Md. (AP) — Dr. Gilbert Ware, the only Negro on the staff of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, resigned Thursday over Agnew's recent comments on "broad and vital questions of social justice."

Ware, 35, said his resignation from the staff of the governor, the GOP vice-presidential nominee, was "in no way politically motivated or occasioned by any outside pressures."

Callan Critical Of Denney's Farm Support

Schuyler (AP) — First District Democratic Congressional candidate Clair Callan took issue Thursday night with Republican incumbent Rep. Robert Denney concerning current alternatives in agricultural price support programs.

Speaking at a meeting of the first and second district membership of the National Farmers Organization, Callan said that Denney has been saying that all that needs to be done is for Agricultural Secretary Orville Freeman to push a pencil and raise the prices. "Now that he is serving in Congress, he should know better," Callan said.

He noted that Congress has placed a spending limitation on the commodity Credit Corp. and said there is no way to raise the prices because there is no money. And, he said, it would be unfair to do it at this time, particularly to those who have signed in the program.

"There are plenty of people telling the farmers all that is wrong but not too many coming up with programs to be of help," he said.

Callan said we need to renew and extend the present farm bill, we need to work on a program of security reserve and need appropriations to make this program work. The alternative to this program, he said, means now.
lower prices than we have now.

Raccoon Bites Lincoln Youth; Animal Is Shot

Lincoln police said they were forced to shoot a raccoon Thursday afternoon after it bit a 15-year-old Lincoln youth on the hand.

Police said the raccoon bit Steve L. Fiero, 1105 No. 34th, and ran up a tree in Fiero's front yard.

The Humane Society was contacted, police said, but couldn't get the animal out of the tree.

Police said the investigating officers reported the trouble to headquarters and received permission to shoot the animal.

The officers borrowed a .410 gauge shotgun from Fiero and shot it, police said, then took the animal to the Human Society headquarters for examination.

The other incorporator, also a Lincoln attorney, is Donald H. Bowman. The registered agent is J. L. Dunlap of Milford.

The firm's authorized capital is $1.5 million, with 1,500 shares of common stock at $100 per share.

Police Arrest Evicted Man In House Fire

Lincoln police said they arrested a 57-year-old retired plumber after he allegedly set his house on fire after being evicted by county officials.

Police said the man apparently returned to his house Thursday afternoon and found his furniture outside the house with an eviction notice attached to the front door.

The man apparently left then returned and set fire to his house, officials said.

The Lincoln Fire Department said the house received "minor damage" from the fire and added that the investigation will continue through Friday.

Police said that they had "no idea" as to why the man was evicted.

State Income Tax Forms, Instructions Off The Press

A 14-page booklet containing forms and instructions for Nebraskans paying individual state income taxes has come off the press.

Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil made copies of the booklet available to newsmen Thursday.

The Nebraska tax is geared to a percentage of the federal income tax liability but contains a food sales tax credit feature, allowing resident taxpayers a credit of $7 per allowable personal exemption against their income tax liability. This credit is intended to reimburse the individual for sales tax paid on food for home consumption.

In addition to the resident individual income tax return (Form 1040N) and instructions for filing, the booklet contains a declaration of estimated income tax return, Form 1040N-ES, and instructions for use by individuals who are required to file a declaration, and an individual consumer's use tax return, form TC-690, for paying the use tax where taxable purchases were made and no sales tax was paid.

The booklet contains an addressed — but not stamped — envelope to be used in mailing in the returns.

Wheat Higher; Other Grains Close Mixed

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures prices advanced for the third straight day on the Board of Trade Thursday but most other grains and soybeans closed mixed.

Wheat was helped by good demand from local professionals, commercial buying and improved export business.

A depressing influence on grain prices was a report from the Soviet Union that that nation expects a larger grain harvest than a year ago with possibly some surplus for export.

Wheat closed ⅛ to ⅝ cent a bushel higher, September $1.19¼; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, September $1.05¾; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September 57⅜ cents; rye ¾ to 1⅝ higher, September ¼ higher to 1¾ lower, August $2.66.

Omaha (AP) — Army Engineers said Eugene Luhr and Co. and Midwest Construction Co. of Nebraska City submitted the apparent low bid of $573,292 for construction of dikes and revetments on the Missouri River near Craig, Mo.

The bid was the lowest of four received.

The 41,430 linear feet of dikes and revetments called for in the contract will consist of 11,900 linear feet of wood piling and 184,600 tons of stone.

Plans call for completion of the job in approximately seven months.

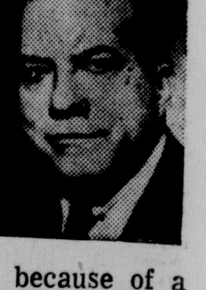
EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Forecasters Miscalculated Influence Of Automation

By Merryle S. Rukeyser



MERRYLE RUKEYSER

The custom of widely circulating forecasts which prove to be wrong suggests that the human race is not unlike ants climbing a hill and not knowing what is on the other side.

For example, as we faced the Nineteen Sixties, the peddlers of fallacy were shouting that automation was killing opportunities for jobs. The record shows, on the contrary, that more positions were opened up than were eliminated.

Jobs Increased

In the late Nineteen Forties and in the Nineteen Fifties, the increase in output was ascribed almost entirely to higher productivity per manhour, resulting from improved capital equipment and better training of workers. In that period, names added to payrolls were offset by reductions in the average work week. Yet, in the Nineteen Sixties, the actual labor supply has grown at the rate of one and one-half percent a year. This increment was on top of an average increase of three per cent in productivity per worker.

Despite the competitive use of young manpower in war and national defense, the increase in the employed labor supply has continued. Those born during the immediate post-war baby boom have begun to leave schools and colleges. In addition, good employment opportunities have attracted more women and served as an incentve to older men to postpone retirement.

Trend Reviewed

In commenting on this trend, the monthly letter of the First National City Bank of New York points out that in the last two and one-half years productivity per worker has slumped a bit from three per cent norm because of a curtailment since mid-1966 in the utilization of the capacity of capital equipment. The bank concludes: "We are employing our labor resources more intensively than our capital resources."

This tendency should be reversed by the inflationary wage settlements in steel and other major collective bargaining. As an offset to a profit squeeze, enterprising industry is likely to accelerate investment in labor-saving, efficient modernized capital equipment.

With the response in Congress to the Johnson administration's recommendations to cool the national economy through the tax surtax and the mandatory cut in federal expenditures, the stock market has been trying to appraise whether the control efforts would result in a recession or in a mere decrease in the rate of growth. The bank, in reviewing the post-war annals of American business, points out that except in 1962 and 1967, most forecasters substantially underestimated the growth of demand.

Bullish Attitude

Behind such thinking is the motivation whereby numerous individual and institutional investors continue to be invested in common stocks.

One expression of this bullish attitude was summed up as follows: "Fundamental to a longer view is the considerable potential for strong growth that still exists. Utilization of productive facilities is not straining capacity. Consumers are not spending to the limit nor are they stretching their capacity to take on additional debt. On the contrary, the personal saving rate has been running since last fall at the highest level in many years. Homebuilding could very well rebound sharply in the months ahead if the present trend toward easier overall credit conditions permits.

"But themselves these factors do not guarantee an acceleration in the rate of growth. Nor do they mean a recession cannot occur. But they clearly indicate that economic expansion — and inflation — may be quickly responsive should the Federal Reserve move further toward a stimulative monetary policy. There is also the prospect for increased productivity of capital associated with the mushrooming use of computers."

As businessmen and investor decision-makers try to adjust themselves to future probabilities, the alibi of conservatism is no excuse for being wrong. Good management requires starting out with hypothesis about the shape of things to come. There is always a degree of risk in making current decisions based on forecasts of future developments, but in the adventure of living it is necessary to do so. The prudent man revises his premises in accordance with the actual unfolding of events.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

to L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
